ARREST LOOMS IN CAVE CAPTIVE INQUIRY!

U. S. POLICY ON WAR DEBTS UNCHANGED

Great Britain's Offer Proves 'Interesting' But Will Not Alter American Plans

By GEORGE E. HOLMES
For International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—Great Britain's offer to substantially reduce the French war debt was read with unusual interest in Washington today, because of the acuteness of the Franco-American debt controversy—but on every hand it was stated that the British position will cause no change in the American debt policy.

The American policy, under three presidents, has been, and will continue to be, it was said, to accord debtor nations generous terms in the way of interest and time—but to collect in full the billions of dollars that European nations drew from the United States treasury from 1917 to 1919 on ordinary commercial paper.

Nothing New, Claim

Treasury officials were quick to point out today that, while the British note has the surface appearance of generosity, actually there is nothing new in the proposition, for Britain has all along advocated mutual cancellation of war borrowings.

Such a cancellation would, of course, make France the chief beneficiary, and cost Britain and the United States in excess of $12,000,000,000. France, for instance, would be called upon to forgive debts of only $2,000,000,000, while she owes about $8,000,000,000. None of these considerations enter into the Franco-American controversy, treasury officials said today.

Entered as Individual

When the United States entered the war, it was as an individual nation, a distinction that President Wilson was always careful to maintain through his insistence upon the phrase "allied and associated powers," and in the division of the spoils America asked for nothing and got nothing.

Therefore, the same considerations that enter into the Franco-British debt can not properly be said to obtain in considering the money France borrowed from the United States—more than $1,000,000,000 of which was after the armistice, administration officials declared.

PARIS, Feb. 9.—The British proposal that France pay part of her debt to Great Britain from annuities out of France's own national resources, regardless of the amount France receives from Germany, was give a cold welcome today by the Parisian press.

Called 'Generous'

LONDON, Feb. 9.—Great Britain wants France, Italy and other war debtors to make annual payments to offset the payments Britain must make to the United States. The treasury department regards the British note to France as generous in its firm invitation to make an offer to begin early payments.

Finding of a rabbit-sized hole seventy feet down in Sand cave is assuming great importance, according to the authorities. If it is found to lead to Collins' living tomb, operations on the shaft will cease and every effort will be bent to bring Floyd out today. The name was withheld but it was intimated that the suspect was one who had rubbed shoulders with the scores of earnest rescue-workers gathered here to risk their lives in the name of humanitarianism.

NOMINATION EDITOR SWAMPED BY VOTES

Friends of Probable Candidates Send In Coupons as Day For Gallery Of Pictures Draws Near

Friends of probable candidates for councilmanic positions, suggested through The Glendale Evening News, swamped the nomination editor today with votes, in anticipation of the gallery of pictures and biographies to appear in this paper on Wednesday.

On some of the ballots appeared names to be added to the list, while other persons who had polled a light vote received enough to put them close to the mark of fifty, and are in a position to have their picture and biography published under the rules.

The nomination editor again cautions persons sending in votes to give the full name and home address of the candidate. Where the business address of the person nominated appears, and not the home address, the vote cannot be counted.

Smooth Road Is Order Of City Fathers

CLAREMONT, Feb. 9.—No "Thank-you-moms!" That is the order of the city board of trustees to the street superintendent.

For years the dip-the-dips in the Foothills boulevard, the bane and pain of all motorists passing through Claremont, have broken auto springs and people's noses, smashed hats and wrenched backs, and now the city dads have had a change of heart.

Originally built to serve as flood channels, the "thank-you-moms" had a tendency to serve as speed cops, for no car could navigate the stretch of highway in question over the legal limit.

'WEDDING BELLS' MAKES 'EM DANCE

Young People at Dobinson Play Insist on Music And Get It

There was a near riot at the Playhouse Theatre Friday night; nothing serious; just a demonstration of that peculiar psychological twist of the youth of today, which, when it wants something, is going to have it.

Unaware that the after-the-show Friday night dances at this popular house had been discontinued temporarily, between forty and fifty high school students, accompanied by an equally large number of their elders, prepared to adjourn to the dance floor as soon as the curtain had rung down.

Explanations were of no avail. They wanted to dance and they were going to dance. Followed hurried telephone calls all over Glendale for jazz saxophonists, trap-drummers, cowbell manipulators and all the rest which go to make up a modern jazz orchestra. They were finally secured; the dance went on and it proved to be one of the most enjoyable of the many arranged by Florence Dobinson, general manager of the Dobinson stock company.

The regular schedule of Friday night dances will open again next Friday night with a special Valentine supper-dance, for which special arrangements have been made and which will be attended by many stage celebrities and persons prominent in the public and social life of Southern California.

On Thursday noon Mr. Cole will tell of his foreign trip at the chapel service at the California Christian college, Los Angeles.

JOHN BROWN REVIVAL OPENS WITH 4500 PRESENT

REV. O'NEILL ASSIGNED TO SAN DIEGO

Pastor of First Catholic Church In Glendale Leaves Oxnard

Rev. James S. O'Neill, organizer of Glendale's Holy Family Catholic church, and for sixteen years priest of the local parish, who has been connected with the Santa Clara parish, Oxnard, for the past two years, has been assigned to the Sacred Heart Catholic church, San Diego, by Bishop Cantwell.

Reports from Oxnard state that the change is being made upon the advice of physicians, who believe Father O'Neill's health will benefit in San Diego. For some time he has desired a smaller church, because his health would not permit him to fulfill the duties of a large parish. In going to San Diego he will renew many friendships and associations, made when he was assistant in a San Diego church, prior to coming to Glendale.

When Father O'Neill came to Glendale the city had 1200 inhabitants. He established the first Catholic church here, holding services in a hall until a church was built with funds he raised. Under his leadership the present beautiful Holy Family church was built. In addition to his parish interests and duties, Father O'Neill took active interest in civic affairs. He was a charter member of Glendale Elks lodge and a member of Glendale Chamber of Commerce.

Many Glendale Friends

Upon his departure, two years ago, for Oxnard, a farewell dinner at the Tuesday Afternoon club was attended by hundreds of his friends, both from his church and from other denominations in the city.

During the two years he has been in Oxnard he has made hosts of friends, who regret his departure. Only recently he was made chaplain of the Oxnard Elks lodge.

Father O'Neill sends greeting to his countless Glendale friends and asks them to pay him a visit when in San Diego.

Rev. John Sheehy of Pomona succeeds Father O'Neill in the Oxnard parish.

MEMORIAL SERVICES HELD FOR VETERANS

Members of Patriotic Organizations Honor Departed Comrades; Sermon Preached by Rev. C. A. Cole

Memorial services honoring departed comrades were held yesterday afternoon at G. A. R. hall, 902 South Glendale avenue, by patriotic organizations of Glendale, under the auspices of N. P. Banks post, G. A. R.

Members of the G. A. R., Women's Relief corps, Mary Jane Gillett tent, No. 18, Daughters of Veterans, Sons of Veterans' auxiliary, No. 7, Sons of Veterans, camp 22, and Glendale post, No. 127, American Legion, participated in the services. Rev. C. R. Norton, chaplain of N. P. Banks post, W. G. Collins, commander of N. P. Banks post, Mrs. Mary Bernett, president of the Women's Relief corps and Miss Lenora Skelton, patriotic instructor of the Women's Relief corps, had charge of the services.

The bugle call was given by Thomas Long and Rev. Cowan offered prayer. C. M. Clark and Mr. Long, the latter a Spanish War veteran, gave short talks.

Rev. Clifford A. Cole, pastor of the Central Christian church delivered the memorial address. The services were impressive and opened with the singing of "America" by the audience. Frank Booth sang two vocal selections and Rev. Cole sang a solo. Vacant chairs for deceased members of all patriotic organizations participating in the service had been decorated with acacia blossoms and during the service when the roll was called, a bouquet of carnations and ferns was placed on the chairs of the departed comrades and a tribute paid to the deceased.

Eighteen Honored

There were eighteen vacant chairs; eight for N. P. Banks post, six for the Women's Relief corps and one for each of the other organizations. The hall was appropriately decorated with flags, a large cross in front of the altar being decorated with white and green flowers and flags. Prayer was offered by Rev. Norton and the service closed with the singing of "Nearer My God to Thee" by the audience. Following is the memorial address delivered by Rev. Cole:

"Since death and despair first struck cold the hearts of men, memorials have been kept. All nations and all ages have had their monuments and symbols by which they have attempted to keep in everlasting remembrance their leaders and the valorous deeds of their brothers. You are not building monuments today nor are you worshiping at marble shrines, but you are bringing forth from memory's walls the pictures of your brothers and sisters who this year have gone to that bourne from which no traveller returns.

"Peculiarly sacred is the memory of comrades of the Civil war. You not only bring from memory's walls the pictures of comrades, but also the one which over sixty years ago began to be painted when the Great Artist dipped his brush in the heart's blood of the Sixth Massachusetts, April 19, 1861, and which was completed four years later with the smoke of the assassin's pistol. This picture set in the background of weary marches and midnight vigils, of the heartbreaking loneliness of mothers, wives and sweethearts, and the cry of the fatherless, and framed with the black days of the reconstruction, is always set longside the memory of a comrade of these days who during the year has answered the bugle call of death.

Ranks Depleted

"How quickly time flies. How rapidly the pale horse and his rider are depleting the ranks. Yesterday they were here with you, did their tasks, knew dawn and sunset, rejoiced with you in the successes of their children and yours, sat here in memorial services of departed comrades. Today, we repeat their names and no answer comes.

"They do not answer that mortal ears can hear. But being dead they yet speak in the silent testimony of their lives. God has not made us so that our lives and our deeds die with us. The most solemn thought that can engage a mortal mind is that we live in this world after we die.

"The good that men do lives after them; so does the evil. Today, we are met to commemorate the good these departed ones have done. We cannot change their failures and mistakes. We can emulate the good. We can take increased devotion from their honored lives. We can here resolve to be true to the right as God gives us to see the right whether our days be many or few, we can honor our creator and redeemer whose face we someday expect to behold.

Must Carry On

"Not only do we live here after we die, but life is significant in that it leads to an inheritance of power. Life is a situation devised by the ingenuity of our Heavenly Father in which to train us to an inheritance of power by teaching us to use the power we already possess for the uplift of our brother and the glory of God. To whatever extent these have done this we thank God and bow down in reverence before their memory.

Eisteddfod Conference Success at Redlands

Twenty-five cities from Santa Barbara to El Centro were represented at the regional Eisteddfod conference at Redlands Saturday. R. Ernest Tucker, director of municipal recreation, and J. Arthur Myers, leader of the community symphony orchestra, attended the conference from Glendale. Dr. and Mrs. L. S. Hazeltine represented Burbank at the meet.

Reports given by delegates showed that more than twenty-five communities will participate in the Eisteddfod events staged in the nine districts of Southern California this spring. Delegates to the session were tendered a turkey banquet as guests of Redlands Community Service.

Burbank Issues Book On College Prospects

When regents of the University of California arrived in Los Angeles today preparatory to their meeting to discuss the proposed new university site tomorrow, representatives of the Burbank Chamber of Commerce distributed to each a copy of a twenty-four-page booklet, setting forth the advantages of the Burbank site. The book is bound in imitation leather embossed in gold. Over a dozen illustrations showing the proposed site and many points of interest at Burbank are included in the booklet.

GOVERNOR AND WOOD SPEAK TONIGHT

Richardson to Talk Before 'Y' Banquet; Education Head at Forum

Friend W. Richardson, governor of California, and Will C. Wood, state superintendent of public instruction, political adversaries and leaders of the principal contending political forces of the state, are scheduled to address two large Glendale gatherings at the same hour tonight.

Early fears that the appearance of the two state leaders on the same night would result in small attendance at both of the meetings have proved groundless. Capacity audiences are assured with tickets for the Y. M. C. A. father and son banquet and the Chamber of Commerce forum dinner sold out.

Six hundred persons will hear the governor speak at the father and son affair at the Presbyterian church. As many, it is expected, will listen to Superintendent Wood at the Broadway High school auditorium. Plans to have the governor's talk broadcast over the radio were not put through, so that Glendalians wishing to hear either of the speakers will have to be present "in the flesh."

Governor Richardson will take as his subject "On the Inside." He will address men of Glendale and their sons in whose behalf the annual father and son banquet is given. Arrangements for the banquet are in the hands of the Glendale Hi-Y club and Rex C. Kelley, Y secretary. Frank C. Weller, Glendale assemblyman and leader of the Richardson forces in the lower legislative body, will introduce the governor.

Wood At Forum

Mr. Wood comes to Glendale at the request of the High School Teachers' club. Members of the club are in charge of the monthly forum dinner of the Chamber of Commerce. With the address of Mr. Wood on school conditions in the state, the teachers plan to launch an active campaign in favor of the proposed $2,400,000 school bond issues for Glendale.

Lon J. Haddock, realtor and lecturer, will not be able to accept the invitation to speak at the Wood meeting tonight. He has been engaged for some time to talk before the Southern California Academy of Science at Santa Monica tonight and, therefore, as much as he would like to speak in Glendale tonight, his previous acceptance of the Santa Monica invitation will prevent.

Secretary Kelley of the Y. M. C. A. and O. E. McDowell, president of the Teachers' club, both said today that there was no friction between the organizations they represent over the conflicting dates. Both speakers were selected before one knew about the other, and when it was found unlikely that either meeting could be postponed, both organizations decided to go forward with plans irrespective of the conflicting meeting. The fact that capacity audiences will hear both the governor and Mr. Wood was a source of much satisfaction to both Secretary Kelley and Mr. McDowell, they said.

Three Persons Suffer Hurts In Car Crashes

Three automobile accidents in Glendale over the week-end resulted in minor injuries to passengers. Peter De Costa of Los Angeles received a gash on the knee Saturday night when the car in which he was riding with L. J. Montgomery was struck by a Pacific Electric bus at Central avenue and Cypress street.

C. D. Dix of 1014 South Brand boulevard received abrasions of the hands and arms, when he collided yesterday afternoon with a car driven by Dr. L. A. Ferris of 308 North Louise street.

George T. Dorrance of 5128 Alverne avenue, Eagle Rock, a passenge rin a car driven by C. H. Clark of 2353 Park avenue, Eagle Rock, received lacerations of the arms and legs last night, when the car collided with a car driven by Monte Hammer of 1017 East Raleigh street. All three men were treated at the Glendale hospital.

Attorney Enters Race For State Executive

The Glendale Evening News is in receipt of a letter announcing the candidacy of Attorney Emory D. Martindale of Los Angeles for Governor of California in 1926. A luncheon will be held by his friends February 11 in the Clark hotel, it is announced.

In a preliminary statement Mr. Martindale believes the primary election law and the initiative and referendum should be changed, as he terms them "effective weapons" in the hands of radicals.

For Council

DR. PAUL S. TRAXLER, the twelfth to receive more than fifty nominations in The Glendale Evening News' nominations for City Council campaign, now being conducted. Who's next?

When The Glendale Evening News announced that it would receive nominations for city councilmen, it was stated that all who received fifty or more nominations would have their pictures published, also a brief biography. It happens that Dr. Paul Traxler is the twelfth proposed candidate to receive fifty or more nominations, so his picture appears above and following is a brief story about him.

Dr. Paul S. Traxler was born in Chicago thirty-three years ago, educated in the Chicago public schools, and later graduated from the college of medicine, University of Illinois, in 1914. After serving one year as interne in the City hospital at St. Louis, Mo., he returned to Chicago, where he engaged in the general practice of medicine and surgery.

Upon America's entry into the World war, Dr. Traxler joined the medical corps of the army and was assigned to surgical service. Following several months in army camps here, he was sent to France with the surgical staff of Evacuation hospital No. 15, and spent eleven months in relief work abroad.

Re-entering active practice upon his discharge from the army, Dr. Traxler came to California, believing that the climate here might have beneficial effect on the health of Mrs. Traxler. He lo-

HUGE TABERNACLE IS PACKED AT MEETING

Rev. Gideon Higginbotham Preaches at Two Services; Expect Evangelist Here From Alabama Thursday

Ten Glendale churches combined to pour 4500 worshipers into the John E. Brown tabernacle on North Kenwood street yesterday morning, and nearly as many again at night. Both services were conducted by Rev. Gideon Higginbotham, advance evangelist of the Brown party.

What Rev. Higginbotham offered the great throngs that twice yesterday filled the tabernacle, was old-time religion—and they liked it, listening intently while he told of his early days in Red Gulch, of his call to Christianity twelve years ago and his tireless fight for the Lord.

For his theme Rev. Higginbotham took the story of Gideon's war with the Midianites, choosing for his text Judges, 7:21: "And they stood every man in his place around about the camp; and all the host ran, and cried, and fled."

Battle Continues

"The scene of Gideon's battle with his enemies is re-enacted today," the preacher said. "God's children are living in caves, while the enemy possesses the land. It is God's will that his children should have the best in the land.

"It is God's plan to work through human agencies. A man stood in a field, threshing wheat. God saw it was the right man and he spoke to him. It was Gideon. God called him to lead the children of Israel to victory, and Gideon accepted the call.

"God never sends men and women on a wild goose chase or a fool's errand. There is no place in the church of God today for a drone. We are saved to serve.

Must Stand Test

"God can never use a man or woman who cannot stand the test. How much faith have we in God? How much faith has God in us? Back in your lives, each one of you, when the crucial hour came, did you stand the test? Are you prepared to stand the test that will come to you in this campaign? You're going to have a revival such as Glendale never knew, but it's going to take real men and real women to stand the test.

"There is no neutral ground in this campaign. When you become neutral, you become a nuisance. The greatest problems in life are settled on our knees with God.

"The war with Germany is over but you folks are entering into a battle against a far greater enemy, an enemy that has wrecked more homes, sent more men and women to their graves than ever Germany did. That enemy is Sin. But God leads our armies in this war, and we who have courage will conquer. God give us the courage and the faith that Gideon had."

Pastor's Attend

At night Rev. Higginbotham brought a message from Rev. John E. Brown at the great Birmingham revival and told in detail of the success of that inspiring crusade for the Lord. He urged the people to be patient until Thursday night, when Rev. Brown himself will arrive to take charge of the Glendale revival.

The morning services were heard by the joint congregations of the Baptist, Central Christian, Gospel Tabernacle, Broadway Methodist, First Methodist, Casa Verdugo Methodist, Pacific Avenue Methodist, Central Avenue Methodist, Glendale Presbyterian and Tropico Presbyterian churches. The pastors of all these churches sat on the platform, in a group, headed by Rev. W. E. Edmonds, president of the Glendale Ministerial union.

The services were opened by the singing of the following three devotional hymns by a union choir of 200 voices, led by Dr. Albert Marple: "Come, Thou Almighty King," "My Faith Looks Up In Thee" and "Blessed Assurance."

Rev. L. C. Kline of the Central Avenue Methodist church led

TYRANTS OF OLD—

STATE UNION

At quite frequent intervals the question of dividing the state of California is advanced, but it is a question that will never be considered seriously by the people of the state. One of California's greatest charms and claims to distinction lies in the diversity of climate, products and attractions to be found here. There is a sharp contrast between the desert heat of some sections and the deep snows of Truckee and the high Sierras. There is a wide range of agricultural products, from the date orchards and cotton fields of the south to the grain fields of the central counties, embracing a wide variety of fruits and grains and dairy products. It is a long way from Death Valley, far below sea level, to the topmost peak of Mt. Whitney. There is an unending variety of scenery in smooth beach, rugged coast, high mountain, wide grassy plain, desert and forest. Contrasts are always interesting, and California is full of them.

California is a wonderful state, and we who live here should be proud of every corner of it as well as of the particular spot we have selected for our own. Every resident of the state should take an interest in anything pertaining to any part of the state, for, in the end, any glory or any reproach that attaches to that part affects the whole.

One of California's greatest attractions is her giant redwood forests, and while these mammoth trees are not in our particular corner of the world, we are all proud of them, because they are in California and are peculiar to this state. We were very short-sighted that we did not take steps years ago to preserve these forests. It is nothing short of criminal to allow the destruction of trees that have been thousands of years in growing. It makes one heartsick to travel through the redwoods of Humboldt county and see the havoc that has been done by the fire and the axe.

Organized efforts are now being made to preserve the redwoods. Many groves have been purchased by individuals or organizations and presented to the state or set aside as memorials. Mrs. R. W. Meeker of Glendale, representing the State Federation of Women's clubs, is actively interested in the work of securing a memorial fund with which to purchase some of the redwood groves. It is a work for the generations to come and one which every resident of California may well encourage.

SMALL BEGINNINGS

Nearly all big things have had small beginnings. Those who plan to do great things, but dream and wait until they can start on a large scale never do start. If you are planning to do something big, begin now. You may never be able to save the sum of money that you feel is necessary. Conditions may never be favorable for starting on a large scale. But there is nothing to prevent your beginning now and growing into your ideal.

A national magazine is publishing a series of articles about six men who own a great deal of the wealth in Chicago today. These men all began as poor boys, and as recently as twelve years ago had very little and were unknown. One of the sextet, William Wrigley, Jr., got his start by selling soap from house to house, giving with each bar of soap a stick of gum which he manufactured himself.

Many a man is doing millions of dollars of business every year who started on a shoestring; great philanthropies often have their beginning in a widow's mite; great reforms are initiated in the feeble tones of one man who has great faith; big schools and churches often are born in the meeting of a faithful few in one small room.

The only joy is in growth, anyway, and the smaller the beginning the greater the opportunity for growth.

Vision is necessary to dream if you will. But do not stop there. Do not mistake lack of spirit for lack of opportunity. The spirit of the doer with the vision of the dreamer can accomplish anything.

FLORIDA SUFFERS BY COMPARISON

Since it has become the proper thing to compare California and Florida, especially in the matter of taxes, it is well to broadcast the figures compiled by the National Automobile club comparing automobile taxation in the various states.

The club has based its comparison on the motor vehicle fee for a Dodge touring car plus the tax on 500 gallons of gasoline. The license fee on any car in California is $3 and the tax on 500 gallons of gasoline is $10. The total contribution of the owner to the state would be, therefore, $13. In Florida a car owner must pay $13 for the privilege of registering his car and, in addition, a tax of three cents a gallon on gasoline. So in Florida the automobile owner pays $28 for what the California motorist gets for $13.

Further comparisons show that no state has as low a license fee as California, the charge in other states ranging from $5 to $34. The tax on gasoline runs from nothing up to 4 cents a gallon. Oregon collects a fee of $34 and a gasoline tax of 3 cents a gallon, so the Oregon motorist pays $49 for what we get for $13. Even if the California legislature raises our gasoline tax a cent or two we shall have to admit in view of these comparisons that California motor taxes are anything but extortionate.

It behooves us Californians to make the most of our low motor taxation rates in advertising the state.

CONSISTENCY

The Standard Oil Co., very much concerned about the welfare of the motoring public, organized a strong lobby to oppose a measure before the state Legislature which would increase the gasoline tax from 2 to 3 cents a gallon. Meanwhile there has been much discussion and investigation, the oil interests strenuously opposing the measure—on behalf of the automobile owners of the state.

And now, without any debate, any warning or any investigation by members of the Legislature, automobile club officials or engineers as to whether the increase is justified or is best for the motoring public, the Standard Oil Co. raises the price of gasoline 2 cents.

A 1-cent additional tax to help build and maintain the highways of the state would work a hardship upon the motorists. A 2-cent raise in the price of gasoline to help maintain the Standard Oil Co. affords the auto owner immense pleasure and satisfaction.

Consistency, thou art a jewel!

EVERY DOG HAS HIS DAY!

The Art of Blaming Others

By DR. FRANK CRANE

It is often said and taught that we should not blame others.

But there are times when others are wrong, and we are right—at least, we feel so. There are times when we must stand firmly by our own convictions, no matter what the world says.

There is a time to take your own part against the whole world, just as there is a time to admit your own failure, if caused by inner collapse.

It is very necessary to maintain a proper balance between blaming ourselves and others. All life, for that matter, is a balance, and a question of judgment, and there is nothing in which the distinction should be more sharply drawn than in the matter of holding others to be at fault on the one hand and ourselves on the other.

If you will read the life of any man of achievement, you will be struck by his absolute confidence in his own great ideas.

The whole world may have laughed at him, but he knew that the world was wrong.

It is written: "To the jaundiced honey tastes bitter, and to those bitten by mad dogs water causes fear, and to little children a ball is a fine thing." So says Marcus Aurelius.

So it is an art calling for all our facilities to know whether it is ourselves or our friends who are little children or bitten or jaundiced.

Napoleon realized this when he said: "To succeed one must be sometimes very bold and sometimes very prudent."

If we are always blaming others, we become disagreeable. It is a bad habit to which we are all liable, that of laying our blame or failure on other people.

But it is also a bad habit to be so blind and to so lack spiritual backbone as to be a continual doormat.

There are times when we must stand up for ourselves.

This perfect balance is indicated in the teaching of Scripture, which says: "Love thy neighbor as thyself." If there is no intelligent love of oneself, there can be none that is of value for one's neighbor.

It is important to know when we are wrong, and important to know when the world is wrong. It is all a part of the difficult art of life.

Horoscope

Unfavorable planetary influences have sway until late today, according to astrology. Saturn, Jupiter and Mars are all in evil place.

It is wise to avoid all labor disputes at this time when there may be a keen sense of personal dissatisfaction.

Under this rule the mind may be disturbed by self-pity and a restlessness that prevents proper concentration.

With the beginning of this week it will be wise to defer all initiative, especially if it be in the line of building or construction.

Warning is given that much pessimistic and discouraging comment may be circulated regarding business, but it should not be heeded, for on the whole 1925 is to be a period of great prosperity.

In many ways reactionary influences will be strong, but they will be good in their effect, since they will encourage conservative business methods and better social standards.

Plays and novels are to reach the ultimate of the erotic and exotic in this year which will mark the recognition of finer ideals of life and literature.

The eclipse of the moon this month is fortunate for the business and commerce of New York.

Mars passing through Taurus affects Ireland adversely and there may be serious trouble there.

Race problems will be forced upon public attention by a startling incident, the seers prophesy.

Poverty in great cities may be more marked at this time than at any period since the World war, it is foretold, and hospitals will be overcrowded, especially next month.

Women should not attempt anything important today. Both love and business may be uncommonly perilous for them.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of an unusually active year, but they should beware of deception and loss in business.

Children born on this day should be keen of mind and energetic. These subjects of Aquarius should be careful regarding their friendships, for they will be targets for dangerous persons.

The Best of Advice

By CLARK KINNARD

Moralists of all ages and all faiths, attending only to the relations of men towards one another in an ideal society, have agreed upon the "golden rule," which is, "Do unto others as you would that they do unto you." In other words, let sympathy be your guide; put yourself in the place of the men towards whom your action is directed; and do to him as you would like to have done to yourself under the circumstances.

However much one may admire the generosity of such a rule of conduct; however confident one may be that average men may be thoroughly depended upon not to carry it out to its full logical consequences; it is nevertheless desirable to recognize the fact that these consequences are incompatible with the existence of a civil state, under any circumstances of this world which have obtained, or, so far as one can see, are likely to come to pass. So Thomas Huxley felt, and I find I must agree with him.

There can be no doubt that the great desire of every wrongdoer is to escape from the consequences of his actions. Put yourself in the place of the man who has robbed you and you will find that you are possessed by an exceeding desire not to be fined or imprisoned; if in that of the man who has smitten you on the cheek, you will contemplate with satisfaction the absence of any worse result than the turning of the other cheek for like treatment.

Huxley opined that, strictly observed, the "golden rule" involves the negation of law by the refusal to put it in motion against lawbreakers; and as regards the external relations of a polity, it is the refusal to continue the struggle for existence.

It can be obeyed, even partially, only under the protection of a society which repudiates it.

"Without such shelter the followers of the 'golden rule' may indulge in hopes of heaven, but they must reckon with the certainty that other people will be masters of the earth," Huxley observes.

What would become of the garden if the gardener treated all the weeds and slubs and birds and trespassers as he would like to be treated if he were in their place?

As Bernard Shaw holds, "The golden rule is that there is no golden rule."

Today's Poem

Life's Finest Music
To A. H.

I've often heard the masters play
Life's finest music, in a way
That touched my heart and made me see
How great this world of ours may be.
And I have sat enraptured, when
Some famous song was rendered, then
I've marveled at the beauty dear,
In every note and tone so clear.

But now I've heard a wond'rous sound,
In concert halls not ever found,
Yet, one that's sweeter far to me,
Than life's most glowing symphony.
No Mendelssohn or Schubert air,
In my opinion can compare
With this, the dearest sound of all
Than echoes from our little hall.

'Tis somehow difficult to write
Of how I love this sound each night,
And close the doors that I alone
May hear the ringing of the phone.
I don't know how to put in words
That sound, far sweeter than the birds';
That rings a magic melody,
(When one I love is phoning me.)

Not all life's music must be played
On instruments that have been made
For fingers, trained by masters' skill
To pour forth notes that soothe and thrill.
For I have learned, no tune could bring
More gladness than that "Ring-a-ling"
That echoes with such melody
When one I love is phoning me.
—Frances Elliott Kane.

Who's Who

Dean of New York bankers, and one of the leading financiers of America, is George F. Baker, in whose honor a testimonial dinner was given recently by the New York State Bankers' association.

Baker is credited with having been interviewed just once in his life, consequently little has been said generally about this "master of the lost art of silence," as he is called.

It was in 1635 that Baker's ancestors first set foot on American soil, arriving in Boston, having come as second in command of a Norse bark from Gravesend, England.

George G. Baker was born on March 27, 1840, in Troy, N. Y. When he was 8 years old the family moved to Brooklyn, and his father engaged in the shoe business in Maiden Lane, N. Y.

It is recorded that the first money Baker ever earned—the sum of $7—was acquired by amassing the cranberries which others had overlooked until he filled a sleigh with them.

At the age of 16 Baker left school. He was 28 when he became a clerk in the state banking department at Albany, N. Y., at a salary of $500 per year. Incidentally, it is recorded that of that smallest salary that he ever earned from the time he started to work he made an immediate saving of $100 a year.

In 1863, when Secretary of the Treasury Salmon P. Chase conceived the idea of selling bonds through the banks and the national banking system was evolved, Baker was offered a position as teller in one of these national banks in New York—a bank which was formed with a capital of $200,000.

In later years he has been a great giver. He has been president of the Metropolitan Opera House association. He has made many gifts to the Metropolitan museum. To the Red Cross he gave $2,000,000 during the war. He has given a student dormitory and chemical laboratory to Cornell; Baker field, the thirty acres for athletic purposes, to Columbia, and $5,000,000 for the Graduate School of Business Administration of Harvard, which bears the name of the George F. Baker Foundation.

KENT TAKES PART IN SCOUTS' MEET

Glendale Official of Council One of Speakers at Pasadena Session

Roy L. Kent, president of Verdugo Hills Council, Boy Scouts of America, was one of the speakers Saturday at the gathering of Scout executives at the Vista del Arroyo hotel in Pasadena, to honor James E. West, chief Scout executive of the United States, and Mortimer Schiff, vice-president and international Scout commissioner. On behalf of the fifty-six councils represented Mr. Kent presented Mr. West with a diamond ring fashioned after a Scout badge.

The honor paid Mr. Kent followed his election to the regional committee of twelve men with jurisdiction over Scouting in Utah, Arizona, California and Nevada. These men are selected from the fifty-six councils represented in this regional territory.

Harvey R. Cheesman, Glendale Scout executive, was among the fifteen Glendale men who attended the gathering. Mr. West presided over discussions on verious phases of Scouting. At the noon luncheon Stuart W. French, president of the Pasadena council presided. It was announced that Long Beach High school has incorporated in its curriculum an accredited course for training Scoutmasters. Another presentation at the dinner was a gold watch to C. N. Miller, regional executive. The watch was a gift from the fifty-six Scout executives under him.

At Glendale Grand View church last night the Scout troop sponsored by the church held investiture ceremonials, the boys receiving tenderfoot badges. Mr. Cheesman spoke on "The Twelve Scout Laws."

Mrs. Charles H. Toll Supports School Bonds

Mrs. Charles H. Toll, 415 Kenneth road, has sent the following self-explanatory communication to W. E. Hewitt, head of the publicity committee for the school bonds:

"The old saw, 'An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure,' has proven its truth and wisdom repeatedly through long years.

"I look upon good public schools as 'ounces of prevention' for many ills. They are strong constructive agencies; in fact, next to good homes, they are the greatest power for building strong, clean, loyal citizenry.

"Good schools cost money. They are, at first glance, expensive affairs. But it is certainly true that the work they do keeps the children away from corrective institutions and obviates the necessity of the 'pound of cure' that the juvenile court and the reform school administers.

"I am decidedly for the best schools for this best town in the best state of the union. I have confidence in the judgment of those who have carefully estimated the needs of the schools for the expansion that is inevitable in a rapidly growing town.

"Therefore, I am in favor of the proposed school bond issue."

we have entered into their labors. Our duty is to carry on in spite of age or circumstance. Let us here resolve that these dead shall not have lived in vain, that our nation under God shall prosper and that our community shall be blessed by their and our sacrifical and unselfish service.

"Peace be to the memory of our brothers and fathers! Green be the graves where sleep friends, patriots, ages! Calm be the resting place of all the brave and true! Gentle be the winter rains where last we saw their frail tabernacles lowered beneath the sod! Forgotten be their frailties and shortcomings in the toils of the road! Sacred be the trust committed to our care, and bright the visions of the coming ages! Glad be the day when we too shall have come to the end of the way, and because we shall have been faithful over a few things may we enter into the joys of our Lord!"

High School

Affording parents opportunity to learn of the school building and daily programs of their children, parents of pupils at Broadway High school are to attend school Thursday night. The event will be similar to a parents' night held last year. The Parent-Teacher association is sponsoring the affair. Parents are urged to be on hand at 7:30 o'clock with their children's daily programs. Music pupils under the direction of Mrs. C. A. Parker, will give musical entertainment from 7:30 till 8 o'clock. Then the daily program will be carried out with ten-minute periods and five-minute intermissions, with parents attending their children's classes to meet teachers. Mrs. W. R. Wichert, president of the P.-T. A. states that this event will not take the place of the February meeting. On Wednesday, February 18, the P.-T. A. will meet at Harvard High school, for a similar program as given last month at Broadway. The mothers will be guests of the Girls' league. They are invited to come to school in the morning and visit classes and enjoy lunch. In the afternoon there will be a P.-T. A. meeting and a program arranged by the Girls' league. Later tea will be served by the girls.

Federation

Mrs. O. H. Spradling, president of Glendale Federation, Parent-Teacher association, has issued an urgent call to all Parent-Teacher leaders for the Federation meeting Wednesday afternoon at Harvard High school. Beginning at 2 o'clock the meeting will be devoted to routine business and completion of plans for "Founders' Night," Wednesday night, February 18.

E. D. Knuchell Writes On School Bond Issues

Editor, The Evening News:—An opponent of the school bonds has given out the information that "Pasadena has only one high school and Los Angeles a beggarly dozen."

I have a letter from Bruce A. Findlay, assistant superintendent, city of Los Angeles city schools, dated January 21, 1925, in which he states: "Numer of high schools in city, twenty-two." These twenty-two high schools include, of course, junior high schools, but he classes them all as high schools, and as far as cost is concerned junior high schools can cost as much as senior high schools, and there are some in this country that have cost over a million dollars.

I also have a statement from William F. Ewing of Pasadena, dated January 19, 1925, in which he states that "Pasadena has four junior high schools and one senior high school and junior college."

These splendid school systems in Los Angeles and Pasadena were made possible by Los Angeles voting $17,500,000 for schools in June, 1922, by a vote of fifteen to one and another $35,000,000 in June, 1924, by a vote of twenty to one, and by Pasadena, with a population of only 10,000 more than Glendale, voting $3,000,000 for schools last year.

In reply to a letter from me, Prof. O. R. Hull, former principal of the Napa Union High school district, has stated that, while there was opposition to the bond issue before it was passed, there is no opposition now.

"Rather do those who opposed the expenditure for new buildings take their visiting friends around and show them the new buildings and demonstrate their pride in the eductional accomplishments of their city, by boasting of their foresight in providing so adequately for the future needs of the school children. Napa is united now in a just pride in the successful completion of its building program."

I might add that Napa's bond issue was for $600,000, and its population at the time of the election was only 7000.

HITS ARGUMENTS ON SCHOOL BONDS

Sherer Attacks Statement On Disaster to Follow If Issue Fails

J. C. Sherer, pioneer resident of Glendale, and at present city treasurer, has sent the following on the proposed school bonds to The Glendale Evening News:

Editor The Evening News—Certain gentlemen of repute in the city of Glendale have had put upon them, without money and without price, the responsibility of securing the adoption of the school bond program at the election of February 17. The last "argument" they present to the people is a plain statement of the fact that they (two only) personally believe the program set forth (in its entirely) to be a necessary one.

They further assert their belief that school management is economical. As a specimen of rare optimism, this latter statement deserves to be framed. The writer of this article hopes to be pardoned for expressing his personal belief that these gentlemen and their associates on the boosting committee, do not know anything about the inner management of school affairs. If they do have this knowledge he calls on them to present to the taxpayers a statement of receipts and expenditures for the past year in either the high or elementary school district.

Inform Taxpayers

The taxpayers have a right to be informed as to whether in the case of new schoolhouses to be built, is it proposed to pay an architect five per cent of the entire cost for the supervision of each and every building? Is any existing structure to be replaced by a new one? Is it intended that (as in the case of the Broadway school) the new structure shall have no increased pupil capacity as compared with the old?

We would like to be informed whether in their investigations they have arrived at the conclusion that the installation of a school manager has marked for efficiency, and whether in their research for economical features they find that it is going to be necessary to send one or both of these school managers on a junketing trip to Kansas City (possibly this is not the particular seat of culture where the convention is to meet, but it is that region) to learn more about managing? And why is the business manager subject to the principal, rather than to the Board of Trustees?

We would like also an informatory statement as to the cost of maintaining the business office of the combined schools in a rented building and how much of a clerical and administrative force is employed there.

Resents Statement

These questions are intended merely as a starter, but if satisfactorily answered will go far to make this expression of diverse opinion worth while. The chairman of the bond committee says:

"It is impossible to estimate the far-reaching damage that will result if the bonds do not carry. It will mean educational and commercial disaster to Glendale."

Taking this seriously for a moment, the writer ventures an opinion entertained by many of those in a position enabling them to pass on the matter, that high taxes are keeping more people out of Glendale in a month, than are attracted hither by our schools in a year.

His Own Picture

But to return to this picture of a dire future, to follow February 17 next if we fail to take program. The writer ventures even further to imagine what will happen in that realm where the educational enthusiast reigns supreme. Should we view the scene from the standpoint of the elementary schools we would see this picture: A schoolless community with parents compelled by stern necessity to give personal attention to their offspring, thus depriving them of many happy hours of leisure which might otherwise be spent at the club, the golf links or the movies.

Or if the parents failed, as quite likely, to adapt themselves to the horrible conditions, we should be subject wherever we might chance to be, to being run down by a frenzied herd of juveniles of both sexes rushing hither and elsewhere in reckless abandon, while here and there on the curbs and sidewalks and on the steps of the high school, would be groups and singles of juvenile disconsolates, with knuckles in eyes, shrieking wildly, "Oh, where is my professor that he won't come and show me how to play?"

But from the temple of the higher education, would be heard the wailing of great grief, while to the tune of "Come Ye Disconsolate," we would catch the last wail of an unhappy wailer, "The high school is gone, the mighty have fallen, come chaos and black night."

J. C. SHERER.

SHOEMAKER SEES GROWTH FOR CITY

John A. Bush Visits Here And Predicts Prosperity For Southland

That Glendale and Southern California are now on the verge of enjoying one of the greatest periods of growth, development and prosperity in history was the statement of John A. Bush, president of the Brown Shoe Co. of St. Louis, in an interview given The Evening News today.

Pointing out the fact that throughout the Ohio valley steel mills are rapidly returning to capacity production and that in that section unemployment is now at a minimum, and supplementing it with the statement that steel is usually the barometer of American business, Mr. Bush said that it was very difficult to arrive at any other conclusion than that present eastern conditions would cause an immediate impetus to Pacific coast and Southern California business.

His own company, Mr. Bush declared, was following out a plan of expansion, one new factory being now nearly completed, while another is being planned. At the present time the Brown Shoe Co. operates fifteen factories and has 10,500 employes, being the largest independent manufacturers in the country, he said. Unusually heavy demand on their factory production is anticipated for 1925 and raw materials for greater output are now being bought.

Mr. Bush's visit today in Glendale was his first in six years and he expressed himself as being astounded at the metropolitan appearance of Glendale's residential and business district and at the almost unbelievable growth that had taken place in the last few years.

Praises Glendale

He asserted that Glendale was ideally situated for mercantile business and that by reason of present-day traffic conditions, people in cities throughout the country were finding it more and more convenient to do their trading in the suburban cities and towns. He stated that in St. Louis many of the larger mercantile concerns were building stores in the outlying communities to meet this very condition.

"Then, too," he said, "the suburban merchant is learning that he must give metropolitan service and the successful suburban merchant is doing it. Glendale people will make most of their purchases here when they find that they get the service."

Before coming to Glendale Mr. Bush was on a tour of the Pacific coast, visiting some of the Buster Brown Shoe Stores, of which there are 150. Last week he attended the annual convention of the California Buster Brown Shoe Stores, held in San Francisco. Incidentally the Glendale store, owned by W. C. Winkler, at 122 North Brand, was awarded second place and second money in a state-wide contest for showing the largest percentage of gain during 1924 over 1923. He made a special trip to visit the Glendale store, and after a brief visit with relatives in Eagle Rock will return to St. Louis.

Construction Plant Is Visited by Burglars

Robbery of the Thermoid Construction Co. plant at West Colorado boulevard and San Fernando road was reported to the Glendale police department today by the management. The robbery took place Sunday night, tools and materials being taken. After investigation, the matter was turned over to the Lincoln Heights division of the Los Angeles police department, as the plant is located across the Southern Pacific tracks, in the Atwater Park district.

Mrs. W. W. Hurin of 1254 South Mariposa street reported theft of a rear-vision mirror and a gear-shift extension from her car Sunday night, while it was parked near her home.

Motorist Dies After Collision on Highway

E. W. Barron, 26, of 106 South Lamont avenue, Los Angeles, was killed when his automobile collided with a machine driven by T. R. Potts, Glendale man, on the San Diego highway yesterday. The accident occurred a mile north of Irvine, according to reports. Barron died in an ambulance on his way to a Santa Ana hospital. Potts and a companion of Barron, R. M. Seeley, were treated at the hospital for minor injuries. An inquest will be held by Coroner C. W. Brown.

Little Miss Conger Is Mourning Loss of Cat

Military Authorities Are Probing 'Fake' Charges

and who is among the few ever to have reached the point where Collins is reported to lie pinioned beneath a seven-ton boulder, fifty-five feet below the level of the cave valley.

Advance Two Theories

Geralds was cross-examined at his home by Major Carl D. Normap, acting for Lieutenant-Governor H. H. Denhart. He was asked primarily for facts regarding the two outstanding theories to label this tragedy a ghastly fraud, first, that the entire imprisonment was "fraud" as a publicity stunt for the cave; that Floyd Collins was only an actor in the scheme; that food was taken to Collins by this means to keep him alive and he may already have left the cave for a hiding place in the hills, and second, that Collins actually was trapped and either deliberately murdered as he lay helpless in his narrow prison or virtually killed by a hampering of rescue efforts.

Grand Jury Acts

Both these theories have scores of adherents among those at the cave. "Hoax" and "fraud" were the main burdens of conversation at the cave today. These possibilities have been discussed by newspaper men and those closely associated with the disaster virtually from the first days of the arrival of state forces until, so persistent did they become today that efforts to empanel a grand jury at Glasgow, county seat of Barren county, in which Sand cave lies, to conduct a civil probe actually got under way. Only preliminary steps in this direction had been taken early, however.

To all questions asked him Geralds had an answer, but Major Norman asserted that, from the examination he had gleaned sufficient information "to warrant the fullest prosecution of the inquiry."

All through the morning, Lieutenant-Governor H. H. Denhart's aides traveled muddy, rut-filled roads to gather additional evidence.

Hill People Excited

And in their wake spread a wave of furore and excitement. Over the hills went the news, traveling as if by wireless and the hills and their people shouted back: "This is murder."

Meanwhile the proposed grand jury investigation had staggered almost to a standstill, awaiting developments from the military.

"We'll know when we get to that passageway," H. T. Carmichael, general supervisor of operations in the pit, said grimly today. "I do not believe it is a hoax. Do you think that I'd have risked the lives of my men in that tunnel if I had the faintest idea that this was only a scheme for publicity or revenge? Why, if it turned out to be, I'd be tempted to take a six-shooter and get every man connected with it."

What may happen if it does prove a hoax, was a question today. Feeling is running high and these hardy Kentucky hills mother a flinty race, used to dispensing law with the bark of a pistol. Men clad in the costume of the hill country gathered in little groups and whispered and pointed often in the direction of Sand cave. And the military cleaned their guns.

FALSE PROPHETS HEARD IN SERMON

Rev. Frodsham, Pastor of Bethel Chapel, Talks On End of World

Rev. A. W. Frodsham, pastor of Bethel chapel, 633 East Colorado street, spoke yesterday on "The 'End of the World' False Prophets, But the Day of the Lord Will Come." Rev. Frodsham said:

"It has been one of the policies of Satan to throw dust in the eyes of men with regard to the truth of the things of God. He certainly has succeeded with regard to the truth of the second coming of Christ—that is, with a large section of the people. The so-called revelations of a self-styled prophetess has brought the precious truth of the coming of the Lord into ridicule. We do not say that all 'revelations' are to be denied in toto, but the majority of them should be taken with a grain of salt. The only safe revelation is the one God gave the Jesus Christ to show unto his servants things that must shortly come to pass. A good deal of doubt exists as to the end of the world and the expression is used in a wrong sense in most cases.

"In Matthew 24 the disciples asked Christ three questions: When was the destruction of the temple to take place; what shall be the sign of Thy coming and of the end of the world. Christ answered those questions, yet one has to read the answers very carefully to find out the order, for it is not on the surface. In Luke 21 the same questions are answered with more detail. Christ goes into minute detail as to the destruction of Jerusalem and the suffering of this (the Jewish) people. The long period to elapse ere He would come is just mentioned in these words: 'And Jerusalem shall be trodden down of the nations, or Gentiles, till the time of the nations shall be fulfilled.' But Jerusalem has now been freed from the power of the Gentiles (Turks) and is now held in trust for the Jews who are flocking back to their old home.

Coming Explained

"Paul in one epistle tells how Christ is coming in the air with clouds for His own people; that those who are in their graves and those who are living will be caught up to meet the Lord in the air. But this is not the end of the world. Prior to Christ's return with His saints, seven years after the translation, there will be signs in the sun, moon and stars on earth, anguish of nations in embarrassment, men fainting from fear and expectation of the things overtaking the inhabited world.' Luke 21:25. Men are not fainting from fear today—far from it—and the whole subject has been ridiculed, according to the reports in the papers, and is treated as a huge joke. But there is to be this fear of an impending danger. 'Then they will see the Son of Man coming with power and great glory.'

"In the meantime there are many signs given to indicate that the coming of the Lord draweth nigh. Christ said, 'When ye see the fig tree and all the trees when they now shoot forth, ye see and know of your ownselves that summer is now nigh at hand.' The fig tree is a type of the Jewish nation which is surely showing signs of new national life as never before. And 'all the trees' is also mentioned. One of the items of ex-President Wilson's fourteen points was the demand 'for the self-determination of small peoples.' These small peoples have been quick to avail themselves of the hint and today many of these seeming dead peoples have sprung up into national life.

"There are some seventeen in all. Among them is Poland, the Finns, the Letts, Egypt has demanded a king, Ireland a free parliament and Albania. Even the Philippine islands want to be free from Uncle Sam. The 'other trees' are 'putting forth their leaves', and we are to take it that the spiritual summer, the time of redemption draweth nigh.

Prelude to Return

"It's the prelude to the Lord's return for His saints which will follow. At the close of this period Christ is to return in glory and power to judge the nations prior to His setting up His kingdom on the earth for one thousand years. During that period Satan will be bound in the pit, after which he is to be let loose for a short time. After this he is to be taken and thrown into the lake of fire. The 'end of the world' will probably be at this period, when there will be a new heaven and a new earth. This is the general view taken by the pre-millennium ministers of the gospel, and is in line with the scriptures.

"The signs of the nearness of Christ's coming are multiplying. We are enjoined to watch and pray that we may be accounted to escape all the things that are coming on the earth. By these false prophecies men will harden their hearts and in the words of Peter they will say: 'Where is the promise of His coming? All things continue as they were from the beginning of creation. But the day of the Lord will come as a thief in the night.' 2 Peter 3:4.

"We would advise all to read the description of false prophets as recorded in Ezekiel 13: 'Woe to the foolish prophets that follow their own spirit and have seen nothing. They have seen vanity and lying divinations, saying the Lord hath said, and the Lord hath not sent them and they made others to hope that they would confirm the word. Because ye have a spoken vanity and seen lies, therefore I am against you, saith the Lord God.' 'In an hour that ye think not the Son of Man cometh.'"

CALL AND ANSWER GRANDVIEW TEXT

Rev. Thomas Says Each One Should Be Apostle In Spreading Faith

"The Call and the Answer" was the sermon at the Grand View Community church yesterday morning; Rev. George W. Thomas, pastor saying:

"The God who found prophets in the sheepfold and called Apostles from the sea is calling today for apostles and prophets from every walk and way of our modern life. That call is rising with a new and mighty power above the jungling voices of pride, greed, ambition, hatred, cruelty, lust and selfish amusement, rising like the measured throb of the sea above the noises on its shore. The tides of God are sweeping in; the ceaseless, eternal, restless tides, and no man who listens can fail to hear, no man who marks can fail to see them.

"They call us all today with the voice of Him who was master of wind and wave, and they call us to become apostles and prophets in this wondrous day when the very air is vocal and life is fluescent. They call us all because it is death or deep water for the church, and Christ or complete catastrophe for the world of men.

Each An Apostle

"The day will never come when there will be pastors and evangelists enough to win the world to God or to convince any community that there is not sufficient righteousness save that built on faith in Jesus Christ. Let Christians all become apostles and prophets with their lives plainly marked with the sign of the Cross. Let the living witness leap from heart to heart and from life to life, and cities and nations will begin to tread this world as if it were the vestibule of another, which in very truth it is.

"This is the conviction which is gripping Christian people today as it has not done in many a year. Let us connect the marvelous machinery of modern knowledge to the limitless power of the tides of God. It's the day to harness the tides of the Eternal Love for the redemption of the world. 'Who is sufficient for these things?' By the all sufficient grace of our God, all of us together."

Fourth Lecture Series At Atwater Baptist

REV. KEMP SPEAKS ON BOYS' FUTURE

St. Mark Rector Pays Honor To Fifteenth Anniversary Of Scout Movement

"The Responsibility of Youth for the Future" was the sermon yesterday by Rev. Philip K. Kemp, rector of St. Mark's Episcopal church. He said:

"We so often think that it is the responsibility of maturity to see about the training of the young, so that it is somewhat startling to realize that many of the great religious systems have been founded by young men. Gautama Buddha began his ministry at the age of 29; Mahavira, the founder of Jainism, began at 30 to practice asceticism. Mohammed, at the age of 35, began to seek religious light, and Jesus Himself was preaching at the age of 29. These great religious systems have started by appealing to the younger generation because that is the period of idealism. We might almost say that there are two great classes to whom religious truth essentially appeals: to youth, with its spirit of idealism, and to old age, with its hope for life eternal. St. Paul, in writing to Timothy, placed upon him the responsibility of being an example to the elders of the Christian life. 'Let no man despise thy youth, but be thou an example to them that believe in word, in manners of life, in love, in faith, in purity.'

"The youth movement in our churches is showing that in the minds of our young people there is a greater power than that of jazz, and that is the spirit of Christian idealism. In the mind of each of our societies for the growing generation is the twofold idea of personal purity and Christian service.

Boy Scouts

"Today we are remembering the fifteenth anniversary of the founding of the Boy Scout organization, and it stands as representative of religion in the minds of growing boys. To be a good citizen and a follower of Jesus Christ they are taught to develop their lives physically, morally and mentally. For a boy who truly follows the scout oath and obeys the scout law a life of effective service for Christ and his country is in store.

"This is the challenge of the coming generation to those who stand in the mid-flight of their human career. The central emphasis of their life is upon a life of personal purity in life morals and thought, and in a life of real service to their country. Many of us in mature years can look to our own life and see if we can measure up to the standards the youth of our churches are placing before them. The true spirit of Christ will alone push back the frontier of materialism and cynicism which attacks so many after the bloom of youthful hope has become dim and before men begin to look very seriously to the life beyond."

Give Work and Trade To Glendale People

There has been a great deal said about hiring carpenters and other craftsmen from out of town. "Give Glendale workmen a chance" has been the cry. This is fair and right. It follows that if we should not employ those who come from outside points seeking work we should not go to outside points with our trade.

"Give Glendale people our business and our work" should be our motto. "Spend our money in Glendale." It is not so much a matter of benefiting the individual worker or the merchant, although they deserve our consideration for having helped the city by investing their money here, but it means boosting Glendale as a whole.

We are all working for Glendale's continued growth. We want Glendale to keep advancing in size and greatness. We make the city so much richer when we spend our money here and we take from it and make it poorer when we go out of town to trade. Any city will stagnate without business, and, correlatively, the more business it has, the more active it becomes and the faster it grows.

Glendale is known as a city of homes; it has attracted people who want to live and rear their children in clean, pleasant surroundings. Glendale has given them what they sought in the way of living conditions, and, in return, our citizens take a pride in the communtiy, they are loyal to it, encourage its institutions and patronize its stores and workers. This sort of co-operation has helped Glendale in the past. It must continue and increase in volume if Glendale continues to grow.

Let us make Glendale 100 per cent loyal and thus help to promote a Greater Glendale.

MEMORIAL HALL PROJECT PLANNED

Legion's Offer of Good Site Is Accepted; Committee To Arrange Details

By DR. WILIAM C. MABRY
Written for The Evening News

Following a series of articles on "War! With a Local Civic Objective," which appeared recently in Glendale papers, a spontaneous movement inaugurated by the eleven service orders of the city culminated Thursday night in a formal and definite declaration of intention to supply one of Glendale's greatest needs.

A central committee composed of one delegate each from the Daughters of the American Revolution, Grand Army of the Republic, Woman's Relief Corps, Sons of Veterans and auxiliary, Daughters of Veterans, United Spanish War Veterans and auxiliary, War Mothers, American Legion and auxiliary unanimously indorsed the erection of a Patriotic Memorial hall for Glendale and accepted the American Legion's offer of the two-acre site at Mountain and Campbell streets upon which to build it.

It is this committee's ambition to place in this minature park, as a setting, a worthy monument to the valiant men and women who offered and gave their lives to their country's service since its inception. Likewise it plans to make this monument the center of patriotic activities in the city, a place where all service organizations may have a home and opportunity to grow and become of greater service to the community.

Controlled By Board

The design of the memorial includes ample and suitable facilities for conventions, great entertainments and civic functions of all kinds. In short the desire is to make it in fact an asset to which Glendale may point with pride and satisfaction.

The whole project is to be under the direct control of a board consisting of one director from each of the service organizations.

With objects so worthy of civic and universal support it should be a pleasure and privilege for each and every citizen to aid in carrying this memorial project to a brilliant and successful conclusion, removing Glendale from the small list of cities now absolutely destitute along these lines.

Monument to Service

The central committee is now actively engaged in completion of detail plans of organization, operations and construction. While these have not fully matured as yet, it is certain that the edifice, with its surrounding park, while neither ornate nor extravagant, will be a credit to the locality and worthy of the fastest growing city in America.

It will be a real monument to service, exactly what the generous people of Glendale desired, when by a wonderful majority they donated the proposed site of the legion and now the legion in dedicating it to service is fulfilling its promises to the letter, and will remain squarely devoted to the plan. There is only one particular in which there could be improvement in the plan as now developed, and that the exchange of the site named for one at the head of Brand boulevard. What could be better than a great memorial looking down the broad stretches of Glendale's greatest boulevard?

Will the public please consider this project and as it develops assist in its realization? For one, I believe it will and look forward with confidence to both.

COMMENT by GIL A. COWAN

People read and wonder at the weekly page conducted by John Steven McGroarty in the Sunday Times magazine wherein he consistently sets forth the serenity of the Green Verdugo hills.

Glendale sits at the foot of Mount Verdugo and entwined in its foothills are Montrose, La Crescenta, Verdugo City, Tujunga, Sunland, Hansen Heights and Burbank.

Some moonlight night take a motor drive out through Verdugo canyon on the historic old road of the same name to Montrose, then turn west over county highway through Verdugo City until you reach the state highway running on to San Fernando.

The tranquillity of the hills in the garden of the moon, the peacefulness of the people congregated together in communal bliss, some attending church services, some attending meetings, others at country dances and the two or three motion picture shows in the valley villages,—all combine to set this picturesque cross-section of Southern California apart from the rest of the world.

Author McGroarty calls the whole charming situation "A millionaires' club of contentedness." Yet there likely isn't a millionaire in the valley, unless he is temporarily visiting there. Likewise, we have yet to find a discontented person there.

San Fernando and Burbank and Lankershim, neighbor cities of Glendale in this San Fernando valley, proved to be quite good trade centers if last Saturday night's crowds were any criterion.

Time was when there wasn't much doing in any of these communities, but with the development of the last ten years it is another story. One who has lived in the San Fernando valley for a decade feels like a pioneer resident due to the many changes.

And to think what another decade will bring forth with the network of new highways, hundreds of small tracts made ready for homeseekers and scores of industries settling in the valley. Progress is faster even than human comprehension, it would seem.

Once again this writer urges that the business men of Brand boulevard and Broadway get together on a program for better street lighting. The boulevard lamps now in use were installed about twelve years ago. At that time, when one-story buildings and two or three two-story structures lined the broad streets, the type of standard which was installed was not only adequately luminous, but spectacularly beautiful from the distance.

With the building of numerous taller structures and much display illumination in signs, Brand boulevard and Broadway seem dark, as compared with streets lighted by newer type of lamps.

It may be expected that the municipal light department and property owners do not want to encourage the expense of a new business distict lighting system. But merchants who are paying the price of doing business on Broadway or Brand boulevard have rights in the matter of lights which should be considered.

EVERYBODY GETS CAMPAIGN CIGARS

City Clerk Reports Box Was Taken From His Desk But Found Empty

"Have a cigar," said A. J. Van Wie, city clerk and candidate for re-election on April 14. "They are campaign cigars. Smoke one and vote for me."

It was Saturday at the City Hall. His friend took a cigar and watched Mr. Van Wie put them back in a drawer of his desk. The box was nearly full, he noted.

Shortly afterward the phone rang and the city clerk was called to the office of Ray L. Morrow, city attorney. On the way he noted a number of city officials smoking cigars. After some preliminary business Mr. Morrow held out a box of cigars and tendered him a smoke. It was the last one in the box.

"These are similar to some I have," said Mr. Van Wie, taking it. When he returned to his desk, his cigars were gone.

F. C. Williams, fingerprint expert of the Glendale police department, was put on the case—only to have the evidence lead not to Mr. Morrow but to Chief John D. Fraser of the local constabulary.

"He gave me the cigars as a gift from Mr. Van Wie," admitted Mr. Morrow before Judge Frank H. Lowe of the Glendale police court. Mr. Van Wie is debating whether or not to carry the action to the United States supreme court.

REDUCING AGAIN

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—Fashion now demands that about everything but prices shall be reduced. Women, therefore, are wearing hip reducers, waist reducers, bust reducers, neck-and-chin reducers and ankle reducers to a greater extent than every before, and surgical elastic has gone up in price.

BEET SUGAR CROP

DETROIT, Feb. 9.—It is expected the producers of sugar beets in Michigan will get nearly as much from their crops as they did last year when the return was $9.30 a ton. The growers get 45 per cent of the value of the sugar extracted on a basis of the daily price from October 1 to February 1.

FAT IN SPOTS

"Dear Doctor—I hate the sight of my arms, my bust, my hips, my legs, my ankles. If I do not seem to be so very much overdistended in other parts, can't I reduce them without dieting?"

I get these letters by the thousands. Fat in spots. Fat does seem to have a predisposition to settle in certain spots in some victims, rather than to be symmetrically apportioned.

The same cause that causes overweight in general is responsible for the fat in spots, and that is overeating or underexercising or both for the needs. (There are such things as actual tumors of fat, but they are sharply circumscribed and stand out and look different from the ordinary fat. These have to be removed surgically).

Most of the complaints seem to be on fat ankles and legs. A girl with the initials "B. M." wrote in complaining about hers, and I answered her pretty thoroughly, I think, so I'll repeat it:

"Fat ankles and legs, fat ankles and legs, oh, the woe, oh, the sorrow, such unseemly pegs! My dear B. M., if I only knew for fat ankles and legs something quick to do, my fortune were made, my future secure. Have you tried to reduce? Have you exercised well? Have you bandaged them snuggly and still do they swell? That's all I can offer, I regret, I sure do, I'm sorry, dear B., there's no help for you."

I really should have put in something about local massage to cover the things she could do for her fat ankles and legs. See if you can fit that in in a rhyming way to my doggerel and send it to me. It's very important!

Busts often seem larger than they really are on account of the style of corset that is worn. A corset that pushes up the roll of fat (the spare tire) on the abdomen, also pushes up the busts. A girdle corset which comes only up to the waistline and doesn't push the fat up, lowers the bust line appreciably; with that, a snug fitting brassiere which comes down over the line of the corset, should be worn.

For the fat hips and tums, kicking exercises, floor rolling and massage can be used. Brisk walks with a long stride also help shake 'em down. A friend of mine who was troubled with extra fat hips and who was not over overweight otherwise, actually took off four inches in four months simply by the kicking exercises. She kicked as high as possible, back and forth and sideways, 100 times a day, in relays of 25.

Where there is a very great disproportion of fat, especially from the hips down, it is thought that there is some disturbance of the internal secretory glands. These cases should be under the care of a physician who specializes in internal medicine. However, diet and exercise will do wonders, and will have to be included in any regime.

For fat arms, try this exercise; stand with the arms to the side, and twist them in and out as far as they go, tensing the muscles at the same time. Do this 100 times a day (at least), in relays of 25.

Give yourself at least three months of persistent work with all of these exercises before you expect a material difference. Do them every day. Good luck to you. I'm glad I'm not troubled with fat in spots except vicariously.

DARK LASHES

The blonde girl is always hunting for a way to make her eyelashes and eyebrows darker, and the dark girl for a way to make them longer. The blonde girl is fortunate; she can—if she uses the method I'm describing today—have quite dark lashes though the effect will only last throughout the day or evening. Permanent staining or dyeing is out of the question; it's dangerous when tried on the head, and of course, might prove fatal if the stain or dye were used near the eyes.

But a perfectly harmless cream can be made that is jet black, and that can be rubbed into the eyebrows and lashes to darken them so that the darkening is not noticeable. To make it, first of all, get a small quantity of fine soot, about as much as would fill a teaspoon. The best way is to hold a candle under a bit of thick glass to smoke it up as though you were going to observe an eclipse. Scrape off the soot with a knife. Put about a tablespoon of petroleum jelly or cold cream in some shallow tiny pot that will hold the cream. Mix in the soot with a tiny stick—(use one of your manicure orange wood sticks—) and keep mixing until you have a very black cream.

Apply the cream by taking a little between your thumb and forefinger and rubbing it well into the ends of the lashes, not thickly enough though, for them to look beaded. Rub a little in and then off the eyebrows. At bedtime rub cold cream around the eyes to remove the black. This won't run, won't get in the eyes, can't possibly hurt you.

Even the dark girl can use this cream. Though it may not make her lashes darker, it will make them seem thicker, and longer because it will carry the color to the very tips of the hair. Lashes are usually long enough, but often the color stops half way, and the ends of the hairs are almost invisible.

Rose:—There is no reason to fear that the tonic was not filled properly because it has a slight odor. Possibly there was nothing to counteract it but the odor will not lessen the value of the tonic itself.

Mrs. A. R.—When massaging under the eyes, the strokes should begin along side of the nose and move upward and outward. Return toward the nose from the temples, and go around the eyes a number of times.

A powerful astringent is made by mixing one part white of egg with six parts water.

Allie Anderson-Roberts Tells About Sanitarium

Mrs. Allie Anderson-Roberts, organizer of the Golden West Sanitarium, and in charge of that institution for over seven years, is now residing in an apartment at 840 Avenue 66, Los Angeles. Her Glendale friends will be able to reach her on the telephone by calling GArfield 8346.

On January 15 Mrs. Anderson discontinued the Golden West Sanitarium, which she had been conducting at 1100 East Windsor road. She says:

"The Golden West Sanitarium, located at 1100 E. Windsor road, formerly known as Thornycroft, when the government had tubercular patients there in 1920-1921, was discontinued January 15, 1925, and the institution returned to Mrs. N. Maxwell Miller, and has since been known as Windsor hospital.

"The license for the Golden West Sanitarium was discontinued on that date as far as the Golden West Sanitarium was concerned. Under the new fire ordinance certain changes would have to be made in order to operate, according to the statement made by W. D. Wagner, director of state institutions.

"I have not conducted the Golden West Sanitarium since January 15. My former bookkeeper, P. G. Slocomb, was made manager for Mrs. N. Maxwell Miller in the Windsor hospital."

Liver Terrapin—Wednesday's breakfast menu calls for fried liver and bacon. Double the quantity of liver so that you will have two cups of cooked, chopped liver left over for this dish to serve as luncheon on Thursday. Begin by rubbing one mashed cooked egg-yolk into two tablespoons of butter; add one tablespoon of flour, a tiny pinch of mustard, a little salt, pepper and lemon juice. Now thin the mixture by adding one cupful of clear canned soup (or any soup stock), let it boil up once or twice, and add the finely-diced liver. Also add three-fourths of a cup of chopped olives (either stuffed or plain without stones) and turn the mixture into small buttered ramekins, or any individual baking dishes. Cover with buttered crumbs and bake in a hot oven till brown—about 12 minutes. Serve hot, garnished with the hard-cooked egg-whites cut in rings.

Prune Bread — Mix together one cup of yellow cornmeal, one-fourth teaspoon of soda, two cups of graham meal, two teaspoons of baking powder, one-third teaspoon of salt and three-fourths of a cup of uncooked, stoned and chopped prunes. Also mix together one-half cup of molasses and one cup of sweet milk, then stir this liquid mixture into the dry mixture. Beat well before pouring it into well-greased baking powder cans (or any empty can which has a tight-fitting cover). Put on cover, tie string around to keep it on, then weight down the cans almost to their tops in boiling water. Let water continue to boil around them for one and one-half hours.

Cream of Pea Soup—Open a can of peas and drain off their liquor, discarding it. Now put the drained peas into a saucepan, add two and one-half teaspoons of sugar and two cups of cold water, and cook slowly for 30 minutes. Rub through a sieve, reheat, and thicken with two tablespoons of flour which have been rubbed to a paste with two tablespoons of butter, in the meantime scald two cups of sweet milk and season with one teaspoon of salt, a pinch of pepper and a few drops of onion juice. Add this to the other mixture, let boil up a moment, and serve.

Answer to "Anxious" — You should have written me well in advance of your planned party so that I would have had more time to send you hints. There were so many dozens of other letters before yours which had to be answered first. Next time write very early.

ADVENTISTS TAKE 23 NEW MEMBERS

Elder Parmele Discusses Sabbath at Saturday Church Service

At the meeting at the Seventh-day Adventist church Saturday morning twenty-three persons were added to the church, most of whom had been baptized at the close of the morning service a week before. During the past summer three new churches were organized, drawing largely on the membership of the central church at the corner of Isabel street and California avenue, but still the church is filled to capacity, as others have come in to take the place of those uniting with other churches. The question of housing the congregation is a serious one, and the members have been seriously considering for some months past the advisability of erecting a larger and more modern edifice.

Despite the inclement weather, a good congregation gathered to hear the pastor, Elder R. W. Parmele's lecture on "The Sabbath of Christ and the Apostles." This is one of a series of Sunday night Bible studies that the elder has been conducting, which he expects to continue throughout the winter. "We learn," he said, "that it was Christ's custom to attend divine service on the Sabbath on which the Jews worshipped, as is stated in Luke 4:16 and 31. While he condemned the rigorous commandments of men concerning the Sabbath, and taught that "the Sabbath was made for man, and not man for the Sabbath, he in no instance by precept or example indicates that it had ceased to bind.

Christian Women

"After his death, the Christian women began the preparation of spices and ointments that they might come and anoint Him; but the Sabbath approaching, they laid them one side until the sacred moments had passed, and 'rested the Sabbath day, according to the commandment,' Luke 23:54 to 56. Though so sacred a work, it could wait until the holy hours of the Sabbath had passed, and 'Upon the first day of the week, very early in the morning, they came to the sepulcher, bringing the spices which they had prepared.' (First verse of the 24th chapter).

"After His resurrection, Christ remained with 'them forty days, speaking of the things pertaining to the Kingdom of God.' But nowhere is it said that He made any mention of a change of the Sabbath. On the contrary, we find the apostles following the same 'custom' that our Saviour had when He was here on the earth. In Acts we are told that it was Paul's 'manner' to attend divine service on the Sabbath. It is evident that Luke was the writer of the book of Acts as well as the gospel that bears his name, and he says that it was Christ's 'custom,' and Paul's 'manner.' Surely Paul was following the 'custom' of his Saviour, and then he says to us in 1 Cor. 11:1, 'Be ye followers of me as I have followed Christ.'

Paul's Sabbath

"In the following texts in the book of Acts, we have a record of Sabbaths on which Paul preached, in the synagogue, by a river side, and in a private house, sometimes to a Jewish congregation, and sometimes to a gentile congregation: Acts 13:14 to 44, two Sabbaths; Acts 16:13, one Sabbath by a river side; Acts 17:3, three Sabbaths in succession in the synagogue; Acts 18:1 to 11, in the synagogue at first, then in a private house.

"And John, the beloved apostle, in his banishment on the lonely Isle of Patmos, still remembered the 'Lord's day.' Some well-meaning people of other churches would like to appropriate this text to the cause of Sunday observance, but nowhere in all the Bible can it be found that the Lord has claimed the first day of the week. On the contrary He tells us that 'the seventh day is the Sabbath of the Lord,' Ex. 20:8 to 11, and exhorts us to cease doing our pleasure on His 'holy day,' Isa. 58:12 to 14, and declares Himself to be its Lord, Mark 2:28, so it is manifestly His day, the day on which John was in the spirit."

Mr. Parmele announced that the subject for study next Sunday night will be "The Falling Away."

The Wrath To Come

By E. PHILLIPS OPPENHEIM, Copyright 1924

CHAPTER XLII

Prince Lutrecht shrugged his shoulders. He was a philosopher and a man of great mind.

"My friend," he said, "everything that could be done to recover that casket was done. It escaped from our hands. We did our best. I refuse to believe that Cornelius would have trusted himself upon the ocean, carrying such a treasure, without a bodyguard. Besides, two or three days have passed, and nothing has happened. There would have been a thousand arrests and the papers would be seething with their discovery, had the books been there."

"But," Itash began—

Prince Lutrecht waved him away.

"I will not be worried with possibilities," he declared. "We have other matters to face."

Slattery spent a wonderful hour in a quiet room of an official building, talking through a private wire to Hodson in New York. Afterwards he dined at the British Embassy, where all official entertainment had been postponed. He was able to sit alone with Susan on one of the broad piazzas afterwards, watching the rising of the moon, and the fireflies in the meadow at the bottom of the garden.

"Your father was splendid," Grant told her. "He said just enough. The day after tomorrow will come the bombshell. Hodson has done splendidly, too," he went on. "They have raided thirty or forty mansions in New York, St. Louis, and even Philadelphia, and discovered documents which afford them absolute proof. They are trying to keep the Press muzzled until after tomorrow, but I'm afraid it will be difficult."

"It seems an amazing tangle," she murmured.

"We're making history at express speed," he replied. "I wonder whether we couldn't walk down and see if those really are fireflies."

She rose to her feet, took his arm, and they passed down the broad walk, through the ornamental gardens, to the little wood beyond. After which they talked no more of politics.

On Wednesday morning, the day but one after the opening Conference, the members assembled at the same time and place, with one notable absentee. At the appointed hour for commencing the proceedings the Secretary of State made a momentous announcement.

"Gentlemen," he said, "I have to announce that Prince Yoshimo, the representative of Japan, has sent me formal notice on behalf of his Government that he desires to withdraw from this Conference."

There was a little murmur of excitement. Prince Lutrecht rose to his feet.

"Mr. Secretary, and Gentlemen," he began, "I am not in any way an apologist for the action taken by my distinguished confrere on the instigation of his Government. On the other hand I must point out to you that the charges brought by Lord Yeovil against the honor of a great nation, publicly and before all, were of a nature to provoke most intense and poignant reprisals. I regret very much that they were made. I foresee from the retirement of the representative of Japan from this Conference—a retirement which I fear may be final—a serious blow to its utility. The item upon the agenda for discussion this morning deals, I see, with a supposed secret naval and military understanding between Russia and my country to the exclusion of other members of the Pact. If it is proposed to interfere in any way with the arrangements which I admit exist between Russian and German naval forces, for joint practice and maneuvers, I desire to tell this meeting at once that I offer my strongest protest and shall follow the example of my friend, the Japanese Ambassador, in retiring from participation in the Conference.

Prince Lutrecht resumed his seat. Lord Yeovil glanced towards the Secretary of State. The latter nodded and rose once more.

"I think," he announced, "that Lord Yeovil has a reply to make to Prince Lutrecht, but before we proceed with what is the apparent business of this Conference, I desire to make an unofficial announcement to you all, which you will learn when you leave this room, for which it was the President's wish that you should know of in conjunction with such events as are now taking place. The Japanese Ambassador last night tendered to the Government of the United States a formal demand that all persons of Japanese birth, desiring to do so, shall be permitted to acquire land and American citizenship on an equality with other nations."

Monsieur Lafayel, the French representative, for a moment, lost his head.

"Mon Dieu!" he exclaimed. "A declaration of war!"

"My distinguished friend technically anticipates," the Secretary observed. "But the attitude of the United States of America to such a demand is, perhaps, too obvious for any other construction to be placed upon the situation."

Lord Yeovil rose once more to his feet. He looked around the table before he spoke with the air of one who desires to impress on his mind the memory of a scene destined to become historical. He spoke slowly and with unflurried tone.

"Mr. Secretary and Gentlemen," he said, "I address you once more in reply chiefly to the remarks of my distinguished friend, Prince Lutrecht. I speak to you, not only as the representative of Great Britain, but as the representative of the Power chosen in rotation for the duty of policing the seas and enforcing the regulations imposed by this Conference. I have to announce to you that I am in possession of absolute proof of the ill-faith of the seceding nation—Japan—from this organization. I have today received cabled information from the Admiral commanding the police forces of the organization in eastern waters, that he has, in accordance with instructions received, destroyed the four or five battleships built in excess of Japan's rights and also the nest of flying ships lying in the harbor of Yulensk, and built and armed without the cognisance of this Assembly."

It is, perhaps, doubtful whether spoken words have, at any time, produced a greater effect upon a gathering of men than these words of Lord Yeovil's. Amazed and half-incredulous interest was the prevailing note. Lutrecht, however, seemed like a man stricken. Every scrap of color left his cheeks. His eyes burned like dry fires. His tongue was perpetually moistening his lips. He seemed to be trying to speak, but he made no effort to rise to his feet.

DOBINSON PLAYERS

Those who agree with the modern doctors that a good laugh is worth more than medicine, should not fail to see "Wedding Bells," now being offered nightly at the Playhouse theatre, Central avenue at Lexington drive. It gives intelligent advice without resorting to sugar-coated pills. The play is being presented by the Dobinson Players, with Mary Worth in the leading role. The curtain rises at 8:15 o'clock.

The trials and tribulations of the lovelorn Reggie; the ludicrous entanglements into which he and a well-meaning friend are tumbled, and the insistence of an ex-wife that there shall be no second Mrs. Reggie, provide entertainment that is different.

"Wedding Bells" was originally produced at the Harris theatre, New York, with Wallace Eddinger and Margaret Lawrence in the leading roles. Joseph McManus and Mary Isabelle Alpaugh are numbered in the cast supporting Mary Worth in the Dobinson Players production. Carl Gantvoort, opera and concert baritone, is the soloist after the first act.

Uncle Wiggily

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY'S HOT BOTTLE

When Uncle Wiggily started out of his hollow stump bungalow one cold, snowy, wintry day, to look for an adventure, Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy called to him:

"Why don't you take your bottle with you, Mr. Longears?"

"What's that?" cried the rabbit gentleman, quickly twinkling his pink nose as he turned a somersault on the ice. "Do you think I am a baby rabbit to take a bottle with me?"

"I didn't mean a bottle of milk," laughed Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy.

"What, then, did you mean?" asked the bunny.

"I mean take a bottle of hot chocolate with you," said the muskrate lady housekeeper. "The hot chocolate in the bottle will keep your paws warm when you put them on it. And when you drink the hot chocolate that will make you warm inside.

"Thank you. I'll do that," said the bunny uncle. And so with his hot bottle of chocolate away he hopped, over the fields and through the woods, looking for an adventure.

Uncle Wiggily hadn't gone very far before, all of a sudden he found a poor little Squiggle Bug, with his legs frozen in a tiny pond of ice. The pond was about as large around as a tea saucer.

"Help me!" buzzed the Squiggle Bug.

"How did you get frozen fast there?" asked the bunny.

"It happened last night," said the Bug. "Then the pond wasn't frozen. It was melted water and I went wading. But I stayed in too long and now I'm fast in the ice that Jack Frost froze."

"I'll help you," said Uncle Wiggily kindly. So, kneeling down, he blew his warm breath on the ice around the Squiggle Bug's legs, and the ice soon thawed, so the Bug could get loose. But he shivered with cold.

"I'll give you some chocolate from my hot bottle," said the bunny, and he did so. Then Uncle Wiggily hopped on, looking for more adventures, and the Squiggle Bug flew on his way.

All of a sudden, as Uncle Wiggily was hopping along, out from the bushes jumped the Fox, and before the bunny could run, the Fox caught him.

"Ah, ha! At last I have you!" barked the Fox.

"Are you going to nibble my ears?" asked the bunny.

"I am as soon as I can go get the Bob Cat," snarled the Fox. "I promised my friend, the Bob Cat, I wouldn't nibble you, if I caught you, until he got here. So I am going to tie you fast to this icicle and go get the Bob Cat."

Speaking thus, the Fox took some strong rope and tied the bunny to a big icicle that had formed on a rock where a spring of water bubbled forth on warm days. Leaving Uncle Wiggily tied to the icicle, the Fox went off to find the Bob Cat.

Oh, dear! If I could only get loose from this icicle, I could run home before the Bob Cat and Fox returned!" sighed Uncle Wiggily.

"Why don't you?" whispered a voice, and there was the Squiggle Bug, now dressed in a warm, fur coat. "Quick!" buzzed the Bug. "Hold your hot bottle of chocolate against the icicle. It will melt and you can pull off the rope and hop home.

So the rabbit held his bottle of hot chocolate against the icicle. The ice melted, the rope slipped off, and home ran Uncle Wiggily before the Fox and Bob Cat returned. And oh, how angry they were. My! My!

Anyhow the bunny gentleman didn't get nibbled that day, and if the nut cracker doesn't pinch the lemon and make it sprinkle perfume on the chocolate cake, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and Tippy Snowtail.

USING FLOWERS

LONDON, Feb. 9.—Flowers grow in strange places so far as millinery is concerned. The pupils were presented for graduation by E. B. Thomas, principal of the school, and were tendered their diplomas by Duncan Forsythe, president of the Board of Trustees.

The graduation exercises were built around a one-act sketch, known as the "Class Prophecy," and depicting what would take place in 1945. The invocation was by Rev. H. O. FROM EAGLE ROCK

EAGLE ROCK, Feb. 9.—Headquarters have been established here for a statewide organization, to be known as the Pollyanna Girls' club of California. Dr. George H. MacNeill of 5230 Maywood avenue is one of those sponsoring the movement, which aims to establish branches in every town and city of the state.

The officers of the Pollyanna Girls' club are as follows: Miss Blanche Wilkerson, president; Elizabeth B. Mays, vice-president; Dorothy Elizabeth MacNeill, secretary; Mercedes M. MacNeill, treasurer.

Judge Walter S. Gates and Dr. George H. MacNeill, have been elected honorary members. Meetings will be held on the first and third Mondays of each month. At the next meeting various committees will be appointed to take care of the workings of the club.

Among the aims and objects of the club will be social service work, the advancement of outdoor sports and recreation such as horseback riding, swimming and other exercises calculated to benefit the physical condition of the members.

The board of directors of the Eagle Rock Chamber of Commerce feel that it is desirable to have a uniform system of ornamental street lights for this community, states C. W. Young, president, but they wish it clearly understood that they will not overrule the desires of people in any given community, if persuasion cannot show them the desirability of uniform standards.

The official board at the Methodist church at their last meeting voted unanimously in favor of the suggested plan of the Chamber of Commerce for installing high class ornamental lights on Colorado boulevard.

Mrs. Smith, who has purchased the C. E. Slaght home, formerly lived on Windermere avenue several years, leaving here for New York, from which city she recently returned.

BLACK IS STYLISH

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—"Let's have it in black" is a suggestion not confined to business men. One of the most attractive costumes on Fifth avenue today was a black suit with short double-breasted coat with pockets, collar and cuffs trimmed with white. With this was worn a white silk blouse, a black tie, a black fox scarf and a black and white hat.

There was a total of 112 permits. The largest was $11,000, for a house and garage in the Toluca Lake tract, issued to L. A. McCray. The next highest building month in this district was April, 1923, when 90 permits totaling $137,380 were issued, the records show. The total of permits issued in the San Fernando valley annex during January was $370,528.

Excitement runs high over a rumor that the recent buyer of the Kennedy property is Carl Laemmle, president of the Universal Picture corporation, who recently purchased a $400,000 corner in Hollywood. It is true that Laemmle did not purchase the property in person, but the same agent who bought the Hollywood property is understood to have negotiated the Kennedy deal.

The Universal corporation recently set aside $3,000,000 for the erection of motion picture houses and it is now thought possible that Lankershim is to be the location of one of them.

FIRST PLACE IN LEAGUE AT STAKE

Huli Trucks and Radios to Mix In Crucial Game Tomorrow Night

First place in the City basketball league will be at stake tomorrow night when the Huli Trucks and Radios meet at Harvard High school gym. The two teams are tied for first place, the truckmen having won four games, while the Radios have won three. Neither team has suffered defeat since the season started.

In the first week of play the truckmen defeated Standard Oil, 29 to 21. The second week saw a victory over the Christian church, 56 to 9, while last week the truckmen took two games, beating Calla Lily 28 to 25, and the Legion crew, 65 to 25.

The Radios opened the league schedule with a win over the Christian church, 55 to 10. They took an extra period game from the Calla Lily crew the second week, 29 to 27, and last week won from the Methodist Episcopal church team 31 to 20, after trailing for the best part of the first three quarters.

Churchmen Tonight

Tonight the Christian church will meet the M. E. church. The M. E. churchmen have won two and lost two, while the Christian church team has three defeats and no victories to its credit.

Wednesday night will see another tie settled when the Calla Lily crew and the Standard Oils meet. The milkmen won from the M. E. church 44 to 17, the first week, but dropped two hard luck games, one to Radios, 29 to 27, and the other to Huli Trucks, 28 to 25. The Oilers lost to the truckmen, 29 to 21, and to the M. E. churchmen, 25 to 15, but won last week from the Christian church, 40 to 7.

Thursday night the Legion and Christian church teams will clash. Next week is the final week of the schedule, and upon the outcome of tomorrow night's game will hinge the winner of first place and trophy. The games are open to the public, there is no admission charge, and the contests are scheduled to start at 7:30 o'clock.

Cupid Lands K.O. On Jack

This is one of the most interesting studies of ESTELLE TAYLOR, to whom JACK DEMPSEY was married recently, an inset of Jack himself and the artist's impressions of the high spots in Dempsey's life. Reports regarding Dempsey's retirement from the prize ring are conflicting. The latest report is he will participate in two more battles. A go with Gibbons is planned, also one with Wills.

JOHN B. FOSTER'S VIEWS

By Special Leased Wire to The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—Babe Ruth from now on faces a never-ceasing fight to keep in condition, says an expert on physical training, who had an opportunity to look the infant over before he left for the Ozark mountains to begin getting ready for the coming season.

"The Babe," says this expert, "is naturally given to taking on fat and he now has reached the age when every winter's relaxation after a hard season on the diamond will be more serious than the preceding one. The fat will stick more and more meticulously to Ruth's ribs until it finally gets a strangle hold on his flesh tissues.

"The Babe was up at his farm in Sudburry, Mass., this winter, working on the woodpile and doing other chores calculated to keep a man's weight down, but despite that fact he took on thirty pounds. When I saw him here, as he started for the Ozarks, he looked healthy enough, but he had the appearance of a man who is beginning to find that there is more than mere luck in being a 200-pounder.

"His is the kind of fat that he can work off from time to time until it throws him completely, but it also is the kind of fat that brings about some physical weakness in the process of reduction.

"I'd say that one of these days when Old Mr. Fat gets his strangle hold on Ruth the home-run king will acquire a girth that will make Uncle Robby of Brooklyn—before his illness—seem a mere wraith."

It is an odd thing that many of the champion batters of the major leagues have been forced to retire because they were the victims of fat. Too much flesh naturally makes a man slower, but it also hits the batter in a place which is seldom thought of by the man who does not follow the training side of baseball very closely. It makes him so great around the belt that he cannot see the low balls.

Dan Brouthers was one of the best batters that the game ever saw and at his best could pick anything out of the air that was pitched to him. High or low, it was all the same to him. He'd slam the high ones out to the fence and lift the low ones over the wall.

One day he overheard a catcher tell the pitcher to keep the ball around his knees. He laughed, but suddenly he discovered that he could not hit 'em around his knees as he once had. He could not find the ball because there was an obstruction in the line of his vision. The obstruction was firmly attached to his middle and he could not remove it.

Dan did not retire immediately, but more and more the fight against the increase of avoirdupois was a losing one, and finally he had to give it up.

Ruth is now 30, just about to turn the other way of the road as athletes turn. When a ball player gets to 30 he may continue on until he is 40 with considerable success. Anson did that. But the player knows that the fight is being carried to him when he reaches the 30 mark—that the arch enemy of all men who must depend upon their ability to keep down to a certain weight has opened hostilities.

Ruth will have a long, hard siege to get off the surplus weight of the winter at Hot Springs, and he knows it. That's why he started early. Last year it hit him pretty hard to get into condition and this year he is taking more time, hoping to achieve it without weakening himself or falling ill.

Two fights, one in California and one in New York, are on Jack Dempsey's calendar for the summer, according to rumors in fight circles which followed the announcement of his marriage to Miss Estelle Taylor, motion picture star, at San Diego Saturday night. One of the champion's opponents will be Tommy Gibbons and the other will be Harry Wills, it is said.

Dempsey obtained his marriage license Saturday noon, but at that time said the marriage would not be held until Sunday or Monday. However, the champion and Miss Taylor returned late Saturday afternoon from Tia Juana, where they attended the races, and went direct to a San Diego church where the champion's mother, Miss Taylor's sister and Joe Benjamin witnessed the ceremony. The ceremony was semi-secret, but announcement of the wedding was made later at a San Diego hotel, where a wedding banquet was served.

Before the wedding, Dempsey announced that he would retire from the ring as soon as Miss Taylor became Mrs. Dempsey, but today it is hinted that he will defend his title on two more occasions, and then pack his gloves in moth balls.

Tex Rickard Plans Battle on June 5

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—Professing to have implicit confidence in Jack Dempsey's readiness to indulge in a busy summer, Tex Rickard today named the Yankee stadium as the locality and June 5 as the tentative date of the champion's proposed meeting with Tom Gibbons for the heavyweight championship.

A provision in the articles of agreement of the promoter would call for the winner to frolic with Harry Wills next September, thus indicating that that is Mr. Rickard's story, and he is going to stick to it.

It is no star-chamber secret that Wills may not be permitted to box for the title in this section, now or at any future date, but Rickard is one who covers all bets. He merely wants to have the Wills bout in his bag in the event that the negro is officially tolerated as a championship principal here. Furthermore, the dangling of Wills in the background of a Dempsey-Gibbons match is not expected to injure its attendance.

Rickard, therefore, is concentrating all of his attention upon the Gibbons meeting, while Charles L. Henderson, who is making some motions about building a stadium at Long Island City, is frankly in the field for a Dempsey-Wills match only. In addition to deciding upon a tentative date and site, Rickard also has decided that Dempsey and Gibbons will box at night and that both must be on the ground at least a month before the actual proceedings. He says he has the champion's assurance, given through his man of business, Jack Kearns, that all will be as Mr. Rickard wishes.

Mother of Bride Is Expecting Visit

WILMINGTON, Del., Feb. 9.—Mrs. Bertha Boylan declared today that she expected her daughter, Mrs. Jack Dempsey, formerly Miss Estelle Taylor, and her husband, champion heavyweight prizefighter of the world, to visit her prior to their trip around the world. Mr. and Mrs. Dempsey informed Mrs. Boylan of their marriage yesterday by wire.

New Shingle Firm to Build Glendale Plant

Indicating an increased building activity in this territory and the manner in which larger manufacturers regard the development in this district, is the announcement that C. F. Steppler has been licensed by the Pioneer Paper Co., of Los Angeles to establish the C. F. Steppler Pioneer Shingle Co., at 404 Ivy street.

The arrangement provides for the application in Glendale and vicinity of asphalt slate-surfaced shingles, manufactured by the Pioneer Paper Co. The C. F. Steppler Shingle Co. will be a separate concern, licensed to distribute and supply these shingles, in order to keep pace with the demand for Pioneer asphalt slate-surfaced shingles for reroofing right over the old wood shingles and for new construction on residences, schools and other public buildings.

The Pioneer Paper Co. is the largest exclusive manufacturer of roofing and building papers in the west. The slate for the Pioneer slate-surfaced shingles is a California product, mined in the Yosemite valley district.

People of Great Britain are eating more raisins, and the reported shortage of Smyrna and Greek crops are expected to cause the British to consume the fruit from America.

RINGSIDE GOSSIP by FAIR PLAY

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—When a manager makes an assertion and a promoter takes it up, the manager is in an embarrassing position unless he made his assertion in good faith.

After the Jack Delaney-Tiger Flowers battle, Walk Miller, who is Flowers' manager, claimed that his colored boy had got the works between rounds in that fight, meaning that Delaney's gloves had been loaded for the knockout. He said that, if Delaney would agree to a return fight, Flowers would fight him for nothing, giving his share to charity.

Up comes Frank Flournoy, matchmaker of the Garden, saying that Flowers does not have to be as generous as all that. He added that the negro would receive an attractive sum if he would again enter the ring with Delaney.

Delaney's manager has been hanging around the Garden waiting for Miller to come to terms. Just at present Flowers' manager is holding off on a question of money—so it does not look as though he has any intention of letting his fighter do battle for nothing, or anything like nothing.

The date which the Garden authorities want to fill is February 26, the date upon which Berlenbach and Delaney were to meet. Berlenbach, as is known, has decided to rest for a while.

It is not often these days that one hears such charges as Miller made about Delaney's gloves being loaded. It is a pretty risky thing for a second to attempt, as even a fairly watchful referee can detect it. The usual way it is done is to slit the glove with a safety razor while pretending to massage the glove hands, and then pour in some plaster of paris. A dash of water from the water bottle completes the job, and the fighter thus treated has a fist that would crack a brick.

However, since Tiger Flowers is booked to meet Tut Jackson, Sailor Darden, Jackie Clark, Allentown Joe Gans and Lee Anderson this month, he cannot be accused of laziness, whatever other charge Pete Reilly, Delaney's manager, may see fit to bring against him.

Mrs. Phillips, who is a registered nurse, will assist her husband in his practice.

KID KAPLAN IS READY FOR BOUT

Featherweight Champ Ends Training for Battle With Bud Ridley

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 9.—Kid Kaplan, featherweight champion, wound up his training today for his twelve round no-decision battle here Tuesday night at Jack Doyle's Vernon arena against Bud Ridley of Seattle. It will be the first no-decision twelve round fight in California since the new long bout law went into effect.

Kaplan, who is living in a Highland Park bungalow, took a little road work today and eased off training, which has been strenuous for several days.

Ridley is regarded as a better boxer than the new champion but Kaplan was not expected by critics to have any trouble winning through his superior socking ability and his victory by the Kayo route was predicted in many quarters.

Woman Asks Damages From Coca Cola King

ATLANTA, Ga., Feb. 9.—A suit asking $100,000 damages from Asa Candler, sr., Asa Candler, jr., and Mrs. Asa Candler, W. J. Stoddard, Forest Adair and G. W. Keeling, was filed in superior court here by Mrs. Harriet Pitchford, who alleges that Mrs. Candler, Keeling and Stoddard were arrested in an apartment house she owns here, the apartment called "The Dive," and the property made worthless. All tenants moved out, she says in the suit, and the property later was sold at a sheriff's sale.

LAWRENCE PERRY SAYS

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—Just when everything seemed set for smooth sailing, a veritable feast of concord, at the annual meeting of the National Lawn Tennis association in this city Saturday, a storm cloud develops upon the western horizon.

It appears that certain flaws in the procedure of ranking American lawn tennis players—alleged flaws, that is to say—as well as charges of discrepancies and errors in the rating of western players, has excited the ire of the Western Tawn Tennis association and resolutions setting forth this feeling will be presented at the meeting of the national body by J. C. Stewart, the president of the western organization.

So far as the writer can learn, the western association will raise the following points:

1. The ranking list as sent out by the ranking body is not official, because it was made by a subcommittee of the ranking committee.

2. The members of the subcommittee are all esterners, viz: Norris Williams, Julian Myrick and Nathaniel Niles.

3. George Lott, jr., and Marion Leighton, of Chicago, did not receive adequate recognition by subcommittee.

4. Norris Williams was beaten by Lott in the national tourney, and so, although he was a Davis Cup player, his name was not listed because of insufficient data." Watson Washburn, whose record is regarded by the westerners as much the same as Williams' record, was ranked.

5. That players rated nationally, above others in their district, received lower district ranking than others rated not so high nationally.

6. Specifically, as regards point No. 5, it is set forth that Mrs. Ruth Meise of Saginaw, Michigan, received a higher rating in the women's western honors than Marion Leighton, who won most of the mid-western tournaments. And, again, that Lucien Williams of Chicago was placed ahead of Kirk Reid of Cincinnati in the western list and behind him in the national list.

It is likely that a demand will be made for a reranking. In all other respects nothing is likely to mar the serenity of the convention. As to the amateur player-writer rule, the western delegates are not instructed how to vote in event of emergency.

It looks as though this rule as formulated by a specially-appointed commitee, will be adopted by the national body and be incorporated in the rules without much of a fight, if any. If this happens, a very dangerous controversy will have been adjusted.

Awards of the various championships and Davis Cup ties will be announced, and it is not unlikely that a material change in the scheme of play for the Davis Cup will be effected. For one thing, the cup-holding nation may have to play through the series, instead of waiting to play in the challenge round.

Canadians' Gathering Put Off Account Rain

Rain caused the postponement of the big tourist gathering in the Coliseum, Los Angeles, until next Saturday. The affair was originally planned for last Saturday. Glendale sent a delegation to a special committee meeting and promise was made that a big crowd of Glendalians and a band will be on hand next Saturday.

TEAMS ARE TIED

CHICAGO, Feb. 9.—Fourteen teams which started the six day bike grind were tied at the end of the seventh hour today, having covered 168 miles, 8 laps. During the early morning sprints the team of Walthour and McNamara came near lapping the field but a spill stopped their efforts. The team of Belloni and De Graeves led in the point table with a total of 43.

The terms and conditions upon which said franchise will be offered for sale are the following:

That the railway to be constructed and operated under said franchise shall be used for the transportation of passenger, baggage, United States mail, freight, express matter, and such other commodities as can be conveniently handled by an electric railway; provided, that cars other than closed ones, of a neat and attractive design, shall only be operated over said road between the hours of nine o'clock P. In case the said grantee and its assigns shall fail to comply with the instructions given for said repairs for ten days after service of notice thereof upon the superintendent or manager of said grantee, then the City Council of the City of Glendale may, with suitable assistance, enter upon said railway, or any portion thereof, and do the work and furnish the proper material, and keep an itemized account of the cost thereof, which said grantee and its assigns by the acceptance of this franchise agrees to pay immediately to the Treasurer of the City of Glendale upon the presentation of the account to the superintendent or manager of said railway.

Provided further, that cars shall be run over the road constructed under said franchise every day unless prevented by the elements, riots, strikes or unavoidable causes; provided also, that cars shall be run over and upon said road at intervals of not more than one (1) hour from seven o'clock A. M. until ten o'clock P. M. of each day, and as much oftener as may be necessary to properly accommodate all persons who apply for transportation over said road, except in times of extraordinary and unforeseen amounts of travel; and provided that the City Council may authorize a less number of trips if the amount of travel does not warrant the above number of trips; and provided further, that said grantee and its assigns shall have the right to excavate and remove portions of said streets necessary to properly construct said road, and to erect needful apparatus, boilers, engines and other appliances to properly equip and run said road; provided further, that the City of Glendale in granting said franchise expressly reserves the right to pave, macadamize, renew or sewer any of said streets, or to lay gas, water or other pipes therein, said work to be done so as to injure said road as little as possible.

No percentage shall be paid for the first five years succeeding the date of the franchise, but thereafter such percentage shall be payable annually, and said franchise is to be forfeited by a failure to make the payments provided for, and it shall be the duty of the grantee of said franchise and its assigns to file with the City Clerk of the City of Glendale at the expiration of six years from the date of granting said franchise, and at the expiration of each and every year thereafter, a statement verified by the oath of the said grantee or its assigns, or by the oath of the manager or presiding officer of said grantee or its assigns, showing the total gross receipts and gross earnings collected or received by the said grantee or its assigns during the preceding twelve months, and within ten days after the time for filing such statement it shall be the duty of said grantee or its assigns to pay to the City Treasurer of said City of Glendale the aggregate sum of said percentage upon the gross annual receipts arising from the use, operation or possession of said franchise.

That all poles used in the construction and operation of said electric road shall be placed within the curb line of the streets designated as officially established by the City Council of the City of Glendale, and the outer edge of the poles shall in all cases be set as near the inner edge of the curb as practicable, when not otherwise directed by said City Council, and the wires suspended from said poles shall not at any point be less than twenty-two (22) feet above the top of the rail. All poles shall be of tubular steel or of suitable wood, of a size and kind such as are ordinarily used for similar purposes in the State of California, and shall at all times be kept free from rust and painted in a uniform color; that wherever said railway is double tracked, then the tracks shall be placed thirteen (13) feet from the center line to center line, and in case of a single track shall be located along a line six and one-half (6½) feet easterly from and parallel to the center line of the above described strip of land.

That any neglect, failure or refusal to comply with any of the conditions of said franchise, after thirty days' notice given by the City Council of the City of Glendale, shall thereupon immediately ipso facto effect a forfeiture thereof, and the said City, by its City Council, may thereupon declare said franchise forfeited, and may exclude said grantee or its assigns from further use of the streets of said City under said franchise, and said grantee or its assigns shall thereupon and immediately surrender all rights in and to the same, and the said franchise shall be deemed and shall remain null, void and of no effect.

It fits on any single or double tray—and takes up practically no room. Being connected on tray, it eliminates any handling of water; rinses by power while washing, and is built to give long and satisfactory service.

the vast congregation in prayer. Rev. Edmonds then introduced H. L. Finlay, chairman of the general committee on arrangements, who expressed the thanks of the workers to C. D. Thom, owner of the lot where the tabernacle stands; Chief John D. Fraser, of the Glendale police department; Mayor Spencer Robinson and the City Council; the local newspapers; W. G. Boyd, tabernacle labor chairman; Mrs. J. M. Eyerick, luncheon committee; Mrs. J. A. Newton, women's committee; Rev. C. H. Chrisman, prayer-meeting committee; C. D. Lusby, ushers' committee; Dr. Albert Marple, music committee; Gould H. Warren, minute-men's committee; J. A. Newton, delegations committee; Miss Sara Pollard, secretaries' committee; E. E. Osgood, finance committee, and Mrs. Ross, decorations committee.

Speaking on behalf of the Glendale Ministerial union, Rev. Edmonds thanked the congregation for its response and recalled that John E. Brown revivals were held in Glendale in 1913 and again in 1921.

Dr. Marple Sings

Dr. Albert Marple then sang "The Sword of the Lord, and Gideon," after which Clarence L. Virgin, advance manager of the Brown party, was introduced, and spoke briefly, declaring this to be the most enthusiastic meeting he had ever attended.

Following a prayer by Rev. C. H. Chrisman, in which he asked the Lord to give Glendale 'a Holy Ghost revival,' Rev. Higginbotham took the platform and launched into his sermon.

Mrs. Brewster Honored By Ebell Club Women

Mrs. Harold L. Brewster of Glendale, dramatic reader, was complimented by Long Beach Ebell clubwomen on her reading recently before the drama department of the club of the popular play, "The Goose Hangs High," by Louis Beach. A Long Beach paper said of the event:

"Mrs. Brewster is richly endowed with a dramatic discrimination and appreciation. Grace, ease and depth of feeling marked her reading. She was a Long Beach girl, and always receives a warm welcome from her many friends when she returns each year to read for the department. At the close of the reading Mrs. Brewster received a beautiful bouquet, a gift from the department."

ATWATER REALTORS TO JOIN NEW BOARD

Seventy-five Members of Profession Have Signed Charter; Boy Scouts To Attend Special Services

A dozen real estate dealers of the Atwater Park district will become members of the proposed Northwest Realty board, now in the process of organization. The board will comprise realtors operating in the territory lying to the north and northwest of Sunset boulevard and within the city limits of Los Angeles.

It will function in connection with the Los Angeles Realty board in the same manner as the Southwest board does at the present time. All real estate dealers of the Los Feliz and Atwater sections will be eligible to membership. The board is being organized with the sanction of the Los Angeles Realty board and the California state association. The realtors will band together for protection of their interests as real estate brokers and for the general upbuilding of the ethical standards of the profession. More than seventy-five active members have already signed the charter lists, it was stated by organizers Officers will be elected shortly.

Work on Sewer Line

Work on the outfall sewer line, being built by the city of Glendale through the Atwater Park district to connect with the Los Angeles trunk line, has progressed to the north line of Los Feliz boulevard. With crews working day and night, the sewer ditch will be pushed through Atwater Park along Glenfeliz boulevard and to the river bed where it will connect with the Los Angeles pipes. With the completion of this new outfall, sewer lines now being installed in the Atwater vicinity will have access to an adequate outlet, heretofore lacking.

Sermon for Boy Scouts

Members of the Atwater Park Boy Scout troop will be guests at the morning services at the Atwater Park Baptist church next Sunday morning. The event will be the official observance of National Boy Scout week, designated as February 9 to 15. Rev. M. Grant Nelson, pastor, will deliver a special sermon to the boys.

Next Sunday night will witness another special event at the church. It will be the occasion of the annual laymen's services, being promoted by the Northern Baptist conference. John V. Russell, state chairman of the laymen's movement, and S. J. Kent, president of the Brotherhood at the Tremont Baptist church, Pasadena, will be speakers.

Speaks on Tabernacle

The fourth of his series of sermons on the Jewish Tabernacle service was delivered at the morning service yesterday by Rev. Nelson. The day's topic was "The Ministry in the Holy Place." At the night service Rev. Nelson took as his subject, "Let Not Your Heart Be Troubled." Baptismal services took place following the morning sermon.

The growth of the Baptist Sunday school was shown in a report submitted yesterday by Rev. Nelson. A week ago a record for attendance was established when 230 attended the various classes. A. W. Steffan is superintendent of the Sunday school. He is assisted by Mrs. Irene Smith, Mrs. Edna Henley, Mrs. Steffan, Mrs. Marie Kaser and Mrs. C. E. Josselyn. Members of the Baptist Young People's Union, junior division, gave a social at the church Friday night. The affair was under the supervision of Miss Mary Anderson and Paul Carter.

Hold Valentine Social

A Valentine social under the direction of the Young People's class at the Neighborhood Christian church on Edenhurst avenue was held Friday night. A program and refreshments were enjoyed by the large attendance.

Casey Jones, former railroad engineer, now evangelist, will preach at the Neighborhood church on Wednesday and Thursday, February 11 and 12, it was announced yesterday by Rev. J. W. Utter, pastor.

Men of the community are seeking to raise sufficient funds to install a piano in the Neighborhood church. This fund will be handled in conjunction with subscriptions for a bell at the church. Both are badly needed, according to Clayton S. Decker, and will be purchased from funds now being raised.

Pastor's Wife Is Ill

Mrs. George Carter, wife of Rev. G. R. Carter of the Atwater district, has been confined to her home by illness. She is on the way to recovery, however.

The daughter of Mrs. Elsie Biegert, 3438 Larga, is suffering with diphtheria. She also is reported to be recovering.

District Building Notes

Robert Faskins, Atwater contractor, is erecting five 4-room stucco bungalows on Appleton avenue between Edenhurst avenue and Glenfeliz boulevard.

Two more stucco houses are being built by H. E. Lewis, also a contractor, on Dover place.

Negotiations for the establishment of a light industrial plant on Los Feliz boulevard are under way and will shortly be completed by Anthony L. Rogelmair, according to C. S. Decker, realty broker. Mr. Decker would not divulge the nature of the industrial plant at this time.

PLAYERS LAUNCH WEEKLY PROGRAM

Dobinson Stock Inaugurates Tonight Its Six-Day-A-Week Program

Marking the inauguration of the new six-nights-a-week program and weekly change of plays, the Playhouse theatre will open tonight for the first Monday night since the Dobinson Players stock organization took it over. In addition there will be a matinee every Saturday afternoon.

In the past the Playhouse has been open only four nights a week and this innovation, made possible through the co-operation of the Tuesday Afternoon club, is looked upon by all interested in the theatre as a distinct step forward in the process of popularizing the spoken drama in Glendale.

"An impression seems to have got abroad," says Florence Dobinson, general manager, "that the plays presented by us are of the 'high-brow' variety and appeal only to a comparatively small section of the public. This is not the case. We have always made every effort to cater to all tastes, and those efforts are bearing results, for 'Wedding Bells' has delighted larger audiences than has any play since we took over the Playhouse theatre last October.

"There are two reasons for this. The first is that love of the stage and the drama is inherent in the human race. In the second place, there is one characteristic in the American character which, perhaps, predominates and which renders this nation the sanest on earth; that characteristic is humor, and the love of humor. Recognizing this, we have specialized in and have produced some of the most brilliant comedies ever written. We have one restriction only—they must be clean and non-sexy."

Supper Dance Planned

The offering at the Playhouse this week is "Wedding Bells," the cleverest play that ever came from the pen of the playwright, Salisbury Fields. It ruled such a favorite last week that the management decided to hold it over for another full week's showing. Carl Gantvoort, famous baritone, will sing at every performance, and at next Saturday's matinee, Many of his songs will be in French, German and Italian.

Commencing the week of February 16, "The Night Call" will be presented.

Patrons of the theatre and the Glendale public generally are invited by the management to attend the special Valentine supper-dance next Friday night, to be held in the banquet room of the theatre after the regular night's performance. A well-known jazz orchestra has been engaged, there will be novel decorations and favors, celebrities of the stage and the Dobinson Players will be present and will mingle with the guests, and a large number of the social leaders of Glendale, Hollywood and Los Angeles have already made reservations. The performance and the supper-dance are to be included in the one price of admission.

AT LA CRESCENTA

LA CRESCENTA, Feb. 9.—The monthly meeting of the La Crescenta Improvement association was called to order by President Kemper. Miss Moisant of the entertainment committee reported two programs will be presented. John Steven McGroarty will take part on one program.

C. E. Culberson, reporting on the electric sign to be placed at the entrance to La Crescenta, stated such a sign would cost approximately $400 for complete installation. Fred Pinkus stated the business men of the district were willing to shoulder their portion of the expense.

Mr. Dransfield of the road sign committee reported signs which are down will be replaced and new ones put up where needed. A protest will be lodged with the county supervisors in regard to the changing of the names of the valley streets..

A complete investigation will be made before any action is taken by the association in regard to new flood control bonds, it was decided. F. C. O'Leary was appointed to take up the matter of asserted excessive charges on the bus lines serving the territory.

At the March meeting the matter of changing the name of La Crescenta Improvement association to La Crescenta Chamber of Commerce will come up for discussion.

Tonight stockholders of the Crescenta Mutual Water Co. will hold a business meeting in the La Crescenta schoolhouse at 8 o'clock. The meeting is called by the board of directors for the purpose of considering and acting upon the proposition of changing the boundaries of the district comprising and including the land for use upon which water shall be distributed by the company to the stockholders, also for the purpose of considering the proposition to amend the articles of incorporation. All stockholders are urged to be present at the meeting, as it is of extreme importance to the valley that the extensions in the boundaries be made for the present water system is not large enough to take care of the influx of homeseekers here within the next six months.

Tomorrow afternoon the home economics section of the Crescenta Valley Women's club will meet at the home of Mrs. Virna Harman Walker on East Prospect street. Luncheon will be served at 12:30 o'clock by the hostesses, Mesdames Walker and Elizabeth Wattell. After luncheon, Mrs. W. Reed will give instructions in making lamp shades and other articles for the home. This section is open only to members of the Women's club.

Several business buildings are being erected on West Montrose avenue off Pennsylvania avenue. McClelland Brothers are erecting a garage and machine shop. Simon Bickel is building a new stucco home on his West Montrose avenue property and H. Sechler, pioneer carpenter of the valley, is to build shops which will be equipped for cabinet work.

Much interest is being shown in the meeting Wednesday of the drama and music sections of the Women's club. Under the direction of Mrs. Jessie Hansen of the drama section, the women will offer "Overtones," a one-act play by Alice Gerstenberg. Mesdames Fred Pinkus, Virna Harman Walker, A. F. Hopkins and Mary B. Darrow will carry the roles. Mrs. Anna Aiken will assist. The newly formed quartet will give two numbers. Miss Margaret Hauber, pianist, will give a number of selections and Mrs. Imogene Smith will give a Japanese idyll in costume. Guests will be allowed at this meeting, which will be held in the Crescenta schoolhouse. The program will open promptly at 2:30 o'clock.

All members of Verdugo Hills lodge, I. O. O. F., are requested to meet tonight at the lodge rooms in the Fowler building, when the by-laws will be read.

COAL DEMAND LIGHT

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 9.—A slightly lessened demand for lump coal is reported from industrial consumers and weather difficulties are causing mines in this district to turn out less coal although the rate of operation still compares most favorably with that of recent months.
